First Tales Of A Thai Village:

First Tales of a Thai Village Tony James, Idle Scribbler, 2014-11-04 Ghosts superstition and semi sorcery are all the stuff of daily life in Ban Somboon a tiny village in far flung Isaan Thailand's poorest province Far from Bangkok and the country's famed sun sea and sex resorts Ban Somboon sees few foreigners farang Nestling close to the Cambodian border the village is a community where ancient Khmer traditions and customs linger When a farang of pensionable age from Britain arrives to make his home in the village he faces a steep learning curve First Tales of a Thai Village chronicles the myriad shocks and surprises discoveries both of delight and dismay clashing cultures and struggles with an impenetrable language that he experiences Along the way he burrows into Buddhism encounters some scary Khmer magic and fends off the wiles of would be brides

Agricultural Change and Peasant Choice in a Thai Village Michael Moerman, 2023-09-01 This study examines the agricultural practices and decision making processes of a small Tai Lue village in northern Thailand focusing on the period from 1959 to 1961 with a follow up visit in 1965 Conducted through anthropological fieldwork the research involved living among villagers learning their language and participating in their daily life The primary aim was to understand how villagers in Ban Ping made farming decisions with a specific interest in their adoption of new agricultural technologies such as tractors which had significantly changed rice cultivation by 1960 By concentrating on the local culturally informed perspectives of the villagers the study seeks to provide insights into the factors that influence farming choices within the community The analysis explores the complexities of farming decisions through two perspectives rational decision making processes related to technology and broader social factors tied to the village's extracommunity relations The methodological approach involves a detailed systematic examination of how decisions were made in 1960 with subsequent insights from the 1965 field trip reserved for the study's final chapter to maintain the integrity of the initial analysis By doing so the research attempts to reveal the processes through which farmers select among different agricultural practices emphasizing the importance of understanding localized decision making in efforts to improve agricultural development and economic policies This work is intended not only for ethnographers studying agricultural practices but also for those involved in economic development offering a grounded perspective on the technological and social dynamics of rural communities The study reflects the author's engagement with development work in Thailand drawing on experiences with various international and Thai organizations The research benefits from the support of local Thai officials community members and academic institutions whose cooperation made it possible to document the nuanced interactions between tradition technology and economic change in Ban Ping This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1968
