Heileman, William Jasper Spillman, 1900

Bulletin of the United States Bureau of Fisheries United States. Bureau of Fisheries, 1912 Aquaculture of the United States Robert R. Stickney, 1996-01-12 Aquaculture in the United States is a significant agribusiness industry but it is also a troubled one whose future is clouded by doubt Many aquaculture practices such as deliberately introducing exotic species hatcheries programs and pen culture in protected waters have come under intense attack from environmentalists Economic pressures on the industry from the value of coastal land the unavailability of suitable supplies of water and the legal costs of regulations have restricted growth This book looks at the past present and future of a troubled industry General Technical Report PNW-GTR, 2007 Session Laws of the State of Washington, 1899 Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States. Superintendent of Documents, 1994 Diplomatic and Consular Reports: United States 1900-1901, 1901 Federal Register, 2005-02 Hearings, Reports and Prints of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs United States. Congress. House. Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, 1975 Co-operative Management of Local Fisheries Evelyn Pinkerton, 1989-01-01 In recent years concern over the mismanagement and depletion of our natural resources has grown Innovative responses to this trend have been developed in the management of fisheries when groups or communities of fishermen and various levels of government in Canada and the United States have worked out agreements to share decision making This book is the first to consolidate information on the different routes by which these co operative management arrangements have evolved The authors include anthropologists environmental planners biologists economists fishery managers and tribal and governmental leaders Their contributions examine the process of achieving co management the institutions created by co management arrangements and the benefits which result Some of these benefits include more efficient and equitable management less conflict between government and fishermen and better co operation between groups of fishermen As the cost of centralized government rises and as resource dependent regions demand greater control over development co operative management will become one of the most important means of regulating the use of certain natural resources Co operative Management of Local Fisheries looks at successes and failures of these arrangements for shared decision making and offers guidelines for viable co operative management A Review of the Fisheries in the Contiguous Waters of the State of Washington and British Columbia Richard Rathbun, États-Unis.
