

Through the Years by Emily

You helped me laugh
You dried my tears
Because of you, I have no fears
Together we live
Together we grow
Teaching each other what we must know
You came in my life and I was blessed
I love you, friend
You are the best
Release my hand and say good-bye
Please, my friend, don't you cry
I promise you this, it's not the end.
'Cause like I said, you're my friend.

An Index to Poetry and Recitations Edith Granger,1904

The Circulation of Poetry in Manuscript in Early Modern England Arthur F. Marotti,2021-05-26 This study examines the transmission and compilation of poetic texts through manuscripts from the late Elizabethan era through the mid seventeenth century paying attention to the distinctive material social and literary features of these documents The study has two main focuses the first the particular social environments in which texts were compiled and second the presence within this system of a large body of usually anonymous rare or unique poems Manuscripts from aristocratic academic and urban professional environments are examined in separate chapters that highlight particular collections Two chapters consider the social networking within the university and London that facilitated the transmission within these environments and between them Although the topic is addressed throughout the study the place of rare or unique poems in manuscript collections is at the center of the final three chapters The book as a whole argues that scholars need to pay more attention to the social life of texts in the period and to little known or unknown rare or unique poems that represent a field of writing broader than that defined in a literary history based mainly on the products of print culture

Selected Poems Guillaume Apollinaire, 2015 Apollinaire is the most significant French poet of early modernism and the only great First World War poet from France He coined the word surrealism and was at the forefront of literary and artistic experimentalism This new selection covers the full range of his career in facing page translations with some pictorial calligrams
