This extract focuses on the reasons for Lenin's New Economic Policy.

In March 1921 Lenin announced the end of War Communism and the inauguration of a New Economic Policy. The NEP was based on the following:

Requisitions from peasants were ended and a fixed tax in kind (grain) was substituted – which by 1924 had become a money tax. Once this tax was paid, the peasant was free to do what he liked with what remained. He could use it himself, sell it to the state or sell it on the open market which was now made legal. Private enterprise was allowed in trade and small-scale industry. Compulsory labour ceased; labour armies were stopped; bonuses were introduced for extra work. The currency was back on a sound footing and a regular system of taxation was introduced. Large-scale industry (coal, iron, steel, oil, electricity, railways) remained state-owned.

1.3 Refer to Source C.

1.3.1 Explain in your own words how Lenin's New Economic Policy was implemented.

(3)

The New Economic Policy was a drastic adaptation to the war communist policy, which allowed for a free market, private trade and enterprise. Private trade was no longer illegal, or government centralised. People paid a portion of their goods or income in the form of tax and were permitted to sell the rest on the open market. This stimulated the economy and encouraged economic growth.

1.3.2 In what ways was the New Economic Policy different to Lenin's ideal of a communist state? Support your answer with evidence from the source.

A communist state is one in which all individuals are equal. Under the NEP certain individuals profited more than others, which is a distinctly capitalist feature. This automatically created a sense of inequality and reduced the government's power and influence.

1.3.3 What was Lenin's intention for the state in creating the New Economic Policy?

It was Lenin's intention to recover the economy and to suppress peasant unrest, while still providing for the needs of the government.

Using Design Research and History to Tackle a Fundamental Problem with School Algebra Sinan Kanbir, M. A. (Ken) Clements, Nerida F. Ellerton, 2017-10-28 In this well illustrated book the authors Sinan Kanbir Ken Clements and Nerida Ellerton tackle a persistent and universal problem in school mathematics why do so many middle school and secondary school students find it difficult to learn algebra well What makes the book important are the unique features which comprise the design research approach that the authors adopted in seeking a solution to the problem The first unique feature is that the authors offer an overview of the history of school algebra Despite the fact that algebra has been an important component of secondary school mathematics for more than three centuries there has never been a comprehensive historical analysis of factors influencing the teaching and learning of that component The authors identify through historical analysis six purposes of school algebra a algebra as a body of knowledge essential to higher mathematical and scientific studies b algebra as generalized arithmetic c algebra as a prerequisite for entry to higher studies d algebra as offering a language and set of procedures for modeling real life problems e algebra as an aid to describing structural properties in elementary mathematics and f algebra as a study of variables They also raise the question whether school algebra represents a unidimensional trait Kanbir Clements and Ellerton offer an unusual hybrid theoretical framework for their intervention study by which seventh grade students significantly improved their elementary algebra knowledge and skills Their theoretical frame combined Charles Sanders Peirce s triadic signifier interpretant signified theory which is in the realm of semiotics with Johann Friedrich Herbart s theory of apperception and Ken Clements and Gina Del Campo s theory relating to the need to expand modes of communications in mathematics classrooms so that students engage in receptive and expressive modes Practicing classroom teachers formed part of the research team This book appears in Springer s series on the History of Mathematics Education Not only does it include an important analysis of the history of school algebra but it also adopts a theoretical frame which relies more on theories from the past than on contemporary theories in the field of mathematics education The results of the well designed classroom intervention are sufficiently impressive that the study might have created and illuminated a pathway for future researchers to take Sylvia Hatchell Roberta Teague Herrin, Sheila Quinn Oliver, 2021-07-07 As a young girl Sylvia Hatchell longed to play little league baseball and later high school basketball but both were closed to her because she was a girl In college her world shifted when she discovered a passion for coaching that would lead her to become a Naismith Hall of Fame coach of women s basketball at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill In this book Coach Hatchell s life story unfolds against the backdrop of Title IX and women s struggle for equal opportunities in athletics She celebrates triumphs such as winning the 1994 NCAA Division I Women s Basketball Tournament and weathers sadness and failure such as the loss of her parents surviving cancer and being forced to resign from her dream job in 2019 Concise Answers to Frequently Asked Questions About Assessment and Grading Nicole Dimich, Cassandra Erkens, Jadi Miller, Tom Schimmer, Katie White, 2022-04-12 Get answers to your most challenging questions about implementing effective assessment and grading practices How do we use assessments to increase hope efficacy and achievement Is reassessment important Can we change grading practices when stakeholders don t want us to All of these questions and dozens more are answered concisely making it easy to build strong assessment and grading practices quickly K 12 teachers and administrators will Understand the six tenets of assessment and grading Gain confidence in effective assessment and grading practices Access concise answers to common questions about

The Qualified Student Harold S. Wechsler, 2017-09-29 In The Qualified Student Harold S. Wechsler focuses on methods of student selection used by institutions of higher education in the United States. More specifically, he discusses the way that college and university reformers employed those methods to introduce higher education into a broader cross section of America by extending access to an increased number of students from nontraditional backgrounds. Implicit in much of this book is an underlying social and ethical question: How legitimate was and is higher education's regulation of social mobility? Public concern over colleges and universities' practices became inevitable once they became regulators between social classes. The challenging of colleges' admissions policies in the courts augments similar concerns that have been present in legislatures for decades. The volume is divided into three main sections: Prerequisites, Columbia and the Selective Function, and Implications. It focuses mainly on four universities: The University of Michigan, Columbia University, the University of Chicago, and the City University of New York. Wechsler maintains that unlike other universities, these institutions were pacesetters; they did not adopt a new policy simply because some other college had already adopted it. A new introduction brings the book, originally published in 1977, up to date and demonstrates its continuing importance in today's academic world of selective admissions.

CURRICULUM REFORM IN PAKISTAN Amna Afreen, 2022-02-25 I have written this book in an effort to explore how the history of Pakistan has resulted in the critical problems weighing down its education system. The book examines the questions: Why and how has a small elite class come to rule Pakistan? And how has their rule worsened the country's problems? The focus will be to critically examine the elements of the Pakistani national curriculum and madrasas and their effects on Pakistani society. The book represents the fusion of my experiences in Pakistan with extensive literature analysis, interviews, and textbook analysis. This research began when I came to the United States in January 2015 through the SAR program. I wanted to know the answers to profoundly unsettling questions: How can a society be so intolerant that a scholar educated solely in Pakistan is disregarded and assassinated while many Western educated scholars with traditional insular thoughts are not only appreciated but flourishing? I wanted to know why Pakistani elites have so much power and freedom while lower classes are profoundly oppressed. Elites who barely pay taxes have been in power for generations while those that pay taxes suffer from sky-high inflation. The influential religious leaders mostly belong to the elite class while their followers are mostly lower class. Ruling families and social classes mostly control appointed positions. Do those in power not have a responsibility to speak on issues of social justice rather than limiting themselves in claiming that theirs is the only true form of Islam? Why don't they work to end the disparity of quality education between classes in Pakistan. Instead many elites run their own lucrative elite Islamic schools. More importantly why do the ulama which literally means those who possess knowledge ilm particularly of Islam maintain a tight hierarchical system in the madrasa Islamic seminary community that rarely allows poor intelligent students to attain leadership positions. Why are the ulama silent in the face of ruthless murder of and discrimination against Pakistani minorities.

Book Review Pakistan Educational Reforms is a major study of education in Pakistan and its national and madrasa curriculum that fosters national and religious sectarian divisions intolerance and conflicts. Dr Amna Afreen documents the political socio economic and religious causes limited government funding widespread poverty and illiteracy and the poor training and performance of teachers that have produced a failed educational system at urban and rural government and religious schools madrasa and offers a series of potential solutions and reforms.

John L Esposito University Professor and Founding Director of The Alwaleed Center for Muslim Christian Understanding Georgetown University Practical Steps to Digital Research Deborah B. Stanley, 2018-07-11

This hands on approach to teaching digital research skills breaks down each research skill into simple targeted steps that enable students to research more deeply and to accomplish real world tasks. Today's rapidly diversifying digital world provides easy access to information making it increasingly important that students know how to conduct research online. In this book you'll learn how to transition your instruction of the research process from a print context to a digital one and to expand your own knowledge of how to best assist students at all stages of their research. Using six well defined steps that she developed in her 26 years of experience as a school librarian Deb Stanley provides practical strategies for each of the six steps of the research process accompanied by easily used and replicated lessons and handouts that are applicable and adaptable to all grade levels K 12. Step by step instruction links to Common Core state standards and ideas to help students succeed at each stage of the research process makes this title a must have for any school librarian.

Learning in Information-Rich Environments Delia Neuman, Mary Jean Tecce DeCarlo, Vera J. Lee, Stacey Greenwell, Allen Grant, 2019-12-31

The amount and range of information available to today's students and indeed to all learners is unprecedented. If the characteristics of the information age demand new conceptions of commerce national security and publishing among other things it is logical to assume that they carry implications for education as well. Little has been written however about how the specific affordances of these technologies and the kinds of information they allow students to access and create relate to the central purpose of education learning. What does learning mean in an information rich environment. What are its characteristics. What kinds of tasks should it involve. What concepts strategies attitudes and skills do educators and students need to master if they are to learn effectively and efficiently in such an environment. How can researchers theorists and practitioners foster the well founded and widespread development of such key elements of the learning process. This second edition continues these discussions and suggests some tentative answers Drawing primarily from research and theory in three distinct but related fields learning theory instructional systems design and information studies it presents a way to think about learning that responds directly to the actualities of a world brimming with information The second edition also includes insights from digital and critical literacies and provides a combination of an updated research and theory base and a collection of instructional scenarios for helping teachers and librarians implement each step of the I LEARN model The book could be used in courses in teacher preparation academic librarian preparation and school librarian preparation
