Congressional Record United States. Congress,1971 Undermining Racial Justice Matthew Johnson,2020-04-15

Over the last sixty years administrators on college campuses nationwide have responded to black campus activists by making racial inclusion and inequality compatible This bold argument is at the center of Matthew Johnson s powerful and controversial book Focusing on the University of Michigan often a key talking point in national debates about racial justice thanks to the contentious Gratz v Bollinger 2003 Supreme Court case Johnson argues that UM leaders incorporated black student dissent selectively into the institution s policies practices and values This strategy was used to prevent activism from disrupting the institutional priorities that campus leaders deemed more important than racial justice Despite knowing that racial disparities would likely continue Johnson demonstrates that these administrators improbably saw themselves as champions of racial equity What Johnson contends in Undermining Racial Justice is not that good intentions resulted in unforeseen negative consequences but that the people who created and maintained racial inequities at premier institutions of higher education across the United States firmly believed they had good intentions in spite of all the evidence to the contrary The case of the University of Michigan fits into a broader pattern at elite colleges and universities and is a cautionary tale for all in higher education As Matthew Johnson illustrates inclusion has always been a secondary priority and as a result the policies of the late 1970s and 1980s ushered in a new and enduring era of racial retrenchment on campuses nationwide

Children of the Dream Rucker C. Johnson,2019-04-16 An acclaimed economist reveals that school integration efforts in the 1970s and 1980s were overwhelmingly successful and argues that we must renew our commitment to integration for the sake of all Americans We are frequently told that school integration was a social experiment doomed from the start But as

Rucker C Johnson demonstrates in Children of the Dream it was in fact a spectacular achievement Drawing on longitudinal studies going back to the 1960s he shows that students who attended integrated and well funded schools were more successful in life than those who did not and this held true for children of all races Yet as a society we have given up on integration Since the high point of integration in 1988 we have regressed and segregation again prevails Contending that integrated well funded schools are the primary engine of social mobility Children of the Dream offers a radical new take on social policy It is essential reading in our divided times

Architectural Encounters in Asia Pacific Amanda Achmadi, Paul Walker, Soon-Tzu Speechley, 2024-09-19 Architectural Encounters in Asia Pacific explores the architecture of colonial trade and industry revealing a complex network of transnational connections across the built heritage of the world's most dispersed and culturally diverse region A wide ranging collection of case studies uncover these forgotten connections drawing together stories of migratory architects imperial commodities and indentured labour From Iran to Tasmania Japan to Java and Imperial China to the Pacific Islands the chapters reveal how remnants of colonial trade and industry shed light on the many multi faceted mobilities of the imperial age and their enduring legacy in the postcolonial built environments of Australasia the Pacific Southeast Asia and beyond The chapters also reveal deep strands of cultural influences and material imprints long neglected by national histories of architecture and showcase new methodologies to analyse the interconnectivities and bordering practices which are shaping our experiences of the 21st century With almost every chapter arising from new archival sources this richly interdisciplinary volume brings together the work of architectural historians geographers and heritage practitioners to provide a new understanding of the rich and contested history of this region

The Journal of Educational Research, 1928 Finance, Economics, and Industry for Sustainable Development Anna Romyantseva, Hod Anyigba, Elena Sintsova, Natalia V.
