Organophosphorus Chemistry D W Hutchinson, J A Miller, 2007-10-31. Organophosphorus Chemistry provides a comprehensive annual review of the literature. Coverage includes phosphines and their chalcogenides, phosphonium salts, low coordination number phosphorus compounds, penta and hexa coordinated compounds, trivalent phosphorus acids, nucleotides and nucleic acids, ylides and related compounds, and phosphazenes. The series will be of value to research workers in universities, government, and industrial research organizations whose work involves the use of organophosphorus compounds. It provides a concise but comprehensive survey of a vast field of study with a wide variety of applications, enabling the reader to rapidly keep abreast of the latest developments in their specialist areas. Specialist Periodical Reports provide systematic and detailed review coverage of progress in the major areas of chemical research. Written by experts in their specialist fields, the series creates a unique service for the active research chemist, supplying regular critical in depth accounts of progress in particular areas of chemistry. For over 80 years, the Royal Society of Chemistry and its predecessor the Chemical Society have been publishing reports charting developments in chemistry, which originally took the form of Annual Reports. However, by 1967, the whole spectrum of chemistry could no longer be contained within one volume, and the series Specialist Periodical Reports was born The Annual Reports themselves still existed but were divided into two and subsequently three volumes covering Inorganic Organic and Physical Chemistry For more general coverage of the highlights in chemistry they remain a must Since that time the SPR series has altered according to the fluctuating degree of activity in various fields of chemistry Some titles have remained unchanged while others have altered their emphasis along with their titles some have been combined under a new name whereas others have had to be discontinued The current list of Specialist Periodical Reports can be seen on the inside flap of this volume WALNECK'S CLASSIC CYCLE TRADER, JANUARY 2001 Causey Enterprises, LLC, Chemical Abstracts, 1926 Catalysis C. Maines, Degradation of heme involves its conversion to biliverdin by heme oxygenase followed by reduction of biliverdin to bilirubin by biliverdin reductase There is ample evidence for the pleiotropic functions of biliverdin reductase in cell signaling and regulation of gene expression This enzyme plays a major role in glucose uptake and the stress response Bilirubin has been shown to behave as a double edged sword It can exert either cytotoxic or cytoprotective effects depending on the blood and or tissue concentration of its free fraction the nature of the target cell or tissue and the cellular redox state Its antioxidant effect is the basis for the proposed cardioprotective effect of relatively low blood concentrations of bilirubin in humans with moderate hyperbilirubinemia This Special Topic forum is intended to serve as a platform for updating information and presenting advances in basic and clinical research in the above and related subjects Advances in Botanical Research, 1996-02-26 Harmonious integrated functioning of the whole plant system requires that its various cells tissues and organs should be able to communicate with each other transferring a range of information on environmental conditions physiological and microbial stresses etc In this volume of Advances in Botanical Research incorporating Advances in Plant Pathology three articles are concerned with different aspects of plant signalling McDonald and Davis consider how shoot systems respond to drying and N deficient soil in terms of their stomatal behaviour and growth via the transmission of root derived chemical signals Malone considers the major hypotheses that have been proposed with particular attention being given to hydraulic pressure signals and the hydraulic dispersal of chemical signals At a different intracellular level of communication a wide variety of second messengers couple extracellular stimuli to a characteristic physiological response Webb et al Consider progress made in establishing similar roles for calcium in plant signalling in the context of the mammalian paradigms The effects of UV B radiation on plants have been extensively investigated in recent years Jordan considers progress in understanding the chain of events from perception of UV B to signal transduction and consequent changes in gene expression and regulation Smith and Smith assess the various hypotheses erected over the years to explain structure and function of the host parasite interface formed by vesicular arbuscular VA mycorrhizas an important and widespread mutualistic symbioses of a wide range of higher and some lower plants

Crustal Permeability Tom Gleeson, Steve Ingebritsen, 2016-10-18 Permeability is the primary control on fluid flow in the Earth's crust and is key to a surprisingly wide range of geological processes because it controls the advection of heat and solutes and the generation of anomalous pore pressures The practical importance of permeability and the potential for large dynamic changes in permeability is highlighted by ongoing issues associated with hydraulic fracturing for hydrocarbon production fracking enhanced geothermal systems and geologic carbon sequestration Although there are thousands of research papers on crustal permeability this is the first book length treatment This book bridges the historical dichotomy between the hydrogeologic perspective of permeability as a static material property and the perspective of other Earth scientists who have long recognized permeability as a dynamic parameter that changes in response to tectonism fluid production and geochemical reactions
