Council considers compulsory purchase of ex-department store

OLYMPIC-SIZED POOL PLAN FOR DERELICT SITE

PLANS are being drawn up for an Olympic-sized swimming pool and ice rink on the site of the former John Lewis department store in Hull city centre.

Conservative Party Council member for sport and leisure, has suggested a compulsory purchase order could be used to take over the Broad Street site, next to a council car park.

He said: "I want to see a little swimming pool, next to a little ice rink, in the city centre."

Some people outside Hull will think it's a joke, but we're not and we'll soon have an Olympic-size swimming pool.

"We have people looking at a number of sites now and my preference would be Broad Street."

"This site has been dormant for many years. It's become a bit of a blot on the landscape."

by Kevin Shoesmith
 Chief Reporter

Forward, it's not good enough to have buildings left around for years.

Mr Goughy explained there has long been talk of a city centre Olympic site, not in Hull, but in London and Sheffield, but inside it is about to become a reality.

"People have wanted plans for me," he said. "I have been in local government 44 years and I am more responsible than I have ever been."

He says outside it's not just the Hull, but the site and condition area, which includes roughly one million people, does not have an Olympic-size swimming pool.

"It makes sense to combine a pool and ice rink. The ice rink could help heat the pool."
