Effective Staff Training in Social Care Jan Horwath, Tony Morrison, 2005-07-18 Effective Staff Training in Social Care provides a theoretical framework for training and professional development focusing on group learning in a social care context. It tackles the tensions and dilemmas of those engaged in training amidst a climate of change and a mixed economy of welfare and examines how these influence both the trainer and the learner. Strategies for transferring learning to the workplace and models of evaluation are analysed in depth. Effective Staff Training in Social Care enables the reader to reflect, analyse and develop their own training practice. This is essential reading for educators, trainers and managers working in social care settings.

Reviewing Care Management for Older People Judith E. Phillips, Bridget Penhale, 1996 This book discusses the development and implementation of several models of care management. Drawing together research to highlight the successes and the difficulties of translating the principles of care management into practice, it examines this subject with particular reference to empowerment, needs-led assessment and multi-disciplinary work.

Public Health Service Publication, 1950      Community Services Directory, Sacramento, 1984      Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1992 First multi-year cumulation covers six years 1965-70      An Introduction to Community and Primary Health Care Diana Guzys, Rhonda Brown, Elizabeth Halcomb, Dean Whitehead, 2020-11-30 An Introduction to Community and Primary Health Care introduces students to the theory, skills and professional roles in community settings.

Catalog of Mental Health Pamphlets and Reprints Available for Distribution, 1949 National Institute of Mental Health (U.S.), 1949      Catalog, 1951      Journal of Human Services Abstracts, 1984      Community Care and Older People Christina R. Victor, 1997 Providing a concise review of the demographic context underpinning the development of community care for older people and a critical review of community care in post-war Britain, this textbook discusses the current data and research regarding service provision and the costs and effectiveness of such services. The author integrates available data about the use of different types of service and considers the implications of the 1993 policy and demographic change on the provision of community care in the future, comparing data relating to Britain with that of other developed countries, especially in Europe.

Directory of Organizations Interested in the Handicapped, 1980      Co-ordinating Community Care Ovretveit, John, 1993-06-01 An exploration of how people from different professions and agencies work together to meet the health and social needs of people in a community. It is about making the most of different skills to meet people's needs and creating satisfying and supportive working groups. It is the details of making community care a reality. The effectiveness and quality of care a person receives depends on getting the right professionals and services and also on the support given to the person's carers. Services must be co-ordinated if the person is to benefit, but co-ordination is more difficult with the increasing change, variety and complexity of health and social services in the 1990s. This book challenges the assumptions that services are best co-ordinated by multiprofessional and multi-agency teams and that community care teams are broadly similar. It demonstrates when a team is needed and how to overcome differences between professions and between agency policies and philosophies Drawing on ten years of consultancy research with a variety of teams and services the author gives practical guidance for managers and practitioners about how to set up and improve co ordination and teamwork The book combines practical concerns with theoretical depth drawing on organization and management theory psychology psychoanalysis sociology economics and government studies      Resources in Education ,1997      Directory of Associations in Canada ,1997      The Dimensions of Elder Abuse Gerry Bennett,Paul Kingston,Bridget Penhale,1997-11-11 Adopting an interdisciplinary framework in recognition of the range of domestic and institutional settings in which elder abuse can occur this book both explains the nature of this under reported and little understood problem and addresses the vital question of how practitioners can best work towards its prevention Locating elder abuse in a spectrum of family violence the book gives a balanced account of relevant perspectives on it drawn from the medical legal health and social welfare spheres

Community Involvement in Health Jan Smithies,Georgina Webster,2018-12-17 Published in 1998 This book brings together both the history of community involvement and health and ideas and proposals for further developing the potential of this approach It explores the roots and branches of community involvement drawing together different strands from within and outside the NHS It explores the impact of the rapid changes in the NHS and in local government on local communities and patients and ways in which current policy can enhance and enable the general public to be more involved in their own health and effective service provision Ideas models and case studies are used to illustrate practical ways in which skills and knowledge can be enhanced      Australian National Bibliography ,1978      Community Care for Health Professionals Ann Compton,Mary Ashwin,2013-10-22 Community Care for Health Professionals presents information needed by health professionals for an effective transitioning from institutional to community based care The book is comprised 12 chapters that are organized into two parts The first part covers social policy and various issues including legal sociological and psychological issues The second part covers the skills required for a successful community practice such as working with individuals families and groups The text will be of great use to health professionals who are working in the community or have plans to do so      Making the Special Schools Ordinary?: Models for the developing special school Derek Baker,Keith Bovair,1989      Public Health Service Bibliography Series ,1951
