

A historical painting depicting a scene from the Inca Empire. In the center, a figure, likely an Inca ruler or high priest, stands wearing an elaborate feathered headdress and a patterned tunic. He has one arm raised in a gesture of blessing or command. To his left, a group of people, including women in traditional headscarves, look on. To his right, another figure holds a staff topped with a sun-like emblem. In the foreground, a person is prostrate on the ground, possibly in a ritual of submission or offering. The background shows a landscape with hills and a building. The overall style is that of a 19th-century historical painting.
