Finding Our Compass Reflections On A World In Crisis:

Finding Our Compass Chris Wright, 2013-12-31 There s a time when the operation of the Machine becomes so odious makes you so sick at heart that you can t take part you can t even passively take part So said Mario Savio in 1964 so say millions of the disenfranchised now As the apparatus of elite institutions grinds on pushing society to the brink protesters across the world are putting their bodies upon its gears and its wheels to open up space for freedom and creativity unconstrained by institutional strictures It s time we all followed their lead In a series of freewheeling reflections and summaries of historical scholarship this book reinterprets history and culture along anarchist lines From a rationalistic and Marxian point of view it illuminates capitalism economics U S history popular culture gender relations and human psychology even the nature of the fascinating concepts genius and greatness Its agenda is that of the seventeenth century Levellers deflate the pomposities of elite authority and bring the world down to the level of democratic reason In the process one hopes we will find our way out of the crisis of the present and into a more just civilization in the future Journal of a Dissenter Chris Wright, 2025-01-20 This is a lengthy intellectual journal by a political radical that ranges over a variety of subjects such as Marxism capitalism history many schools of modern philosophy psychology economics and contemporary American politics It also includes quite a few personal passages but I ve kept those only because they express common experiences and youthful psychological tendencies Its most useful content for students might be its many summaries of good historical and scientific scholarship especially in the journal s second half Ultimately the document is a fairly comprehensive expression of a particular society as refracted through an inquisitive and critical mind from the ages of 15 to 44 Class War, Then and Now: Essays toward a New Left Chris Wright, 2025-07-30 Nearly fifty years of outright class war against America s working and middle classes have brought the country to the brink of social and political collapse According to some sources 60 percent of Americans live paycheck to paycheck Since 1975 80 trillion have been transferred from the bottom 90 percent of earners to the top 1 percent Meanwhile little action is being taken to mitigate global warming and ecological destruction while military budgets used in part to wage disastrous wars and genocides climb annually There isn t much hope for the United States or indeed for civilization unless we can forge an international left that prioritizes class struggle above all else It is time to fight back by any means necessary against a ruling class interested in nothing but profits and power In this book a historian of the U S labor movement attempts to advance this agenda through a series of essays on everything from right wing libertarianism to the inadequacies of identity politics from the career of Jimmy Hoffa to the catastrophic consequences of American imperialism Victory in a war for the future of humanity is far from assured but we re lucky enough to be living in a time when there s still some hope It is our duty to act on this hope Aptallığın Anatomisi Hüseyin Sevinc, 2023-09-18 Aptall k ok y nl bir kavram olarak kolektif refah m z etkileyen hem ahlaki hem de sosyal sonu lara sahip bir fenomendir Bu al mada yap lacak olan analiz aptall n do as n nedenlerini ve beraberinde getirdi i etik sosyal ve

How to Build a Stock Exchange Philip Roscoe,2023-03-31 Why is finance so important How do stock markets work and what do they really do Most importantly what might finance be and what could we expect from it Exploring contemporary finance via the development of stock exchanges markets and the links with states Roscoe mingles historical and technical detail with humorous anecdotes and lively portraits of market participants Deftly combining research and autobiographical vignettes he offers a cautionary tale about the drive of financial markets towards expropriation capture and exclusion Positioning financial markets as central devices in the organization of the global economy he includes contemporary concerns over inequality climate emergency and de colonialism and concludes by wondering in the market s own angst filled voice what the future for finance might be and how we might get there

Threshold Dwellers in the Age of Global Pandemic Eleazar S. Fernandez,2022-05-19 So many lives have been lost now and the death toll still continues to rise because of the COVID 19 pandemic The poor and the marginalized not surprisingly have been disproportionately affected The pandemic has exposed the fault lines not only in our healthcare but also in our political and economic system a system driven by the pursuit of the bottom line profits If we are not only to survive but also thrive as a global society the challenge of the coronavirus pandemic must lead us to explore ways of thinking being and dwelling that promote our shared flourishing It is time to take personal stock about ourselves who we are where we have been and where we are heading What can the pandemic teach us about ourselves What is it revealing about us and our situation How shall we dwell together Do we want to wake up to a new and better tomorrow after this nighttime of pandemic That will largely depend on the way we respond now Who are we becoming in this time of pandemic What daily practices are we doing as embodiments of the new world we are anticipating Your Living Compass Scott Stoner,2014-08-01 A religious meditation on borders physical and spiritual an elemental and humanist phenomenon for Conflict, Climate and Inequalities Francesco Sylos Labini, Matteo Caravani, 2025-06-24 This book argues that the growing and seemingly unstoppable centralization of capital undermines national democracies fuels wars destroys the environment and tragically exacerbates global hunger In an era of overwhelming confusion this book seeks to bring clarity by relying on empirical data and the insights of intellectuals from diverse and pluralistic schools of thought These thinkers often overlooked by the mainstream remain unaligned with specific interest groups and offer critical honest and deeply human perspectives on the world The book's central goal is to place the theme of peace at the forefront of public debate demonstrating that movements for environmental and social justice are fundamentally part of the same struggle for human survival This book situates current events within their historical context and a broader historical continuum It acknowledges that today's unfolding polycrisis is deeply rooted in global politics over the past half century with origins that trace back to early industrialization and colonization key processes that established the West as a global hegemon By offering this historical perspective the book directly challenges dominant public narratives which often frame contemporary crises as isolated immediate events disconnected from their historical roots Ways of Being Alive Baptiste Morizot, 2022-03-07

The ecological crisis is a very real crisis for the many species that face extinction but it is also a crisis of sensibility that is a crisis in our relationships with other living beings. We have grown accustomed to treating other living beings as the material backdrop for the drama of human life: the animal world is regarded as part of nature juxtaposed to the world of human beings who pursue their aims independently of other species. Baptiste Morizot argues that the time has come for us to jettison this nature-human dualism and rethink our relationships with other living beings. Animals are not part of a separate natural world; they are cohabitants of the Earth with whom we share a common ancestry. The enigma of being alive and the responsibility of living decent lives together. By accepting our identity as living beings and reconnecting with our own animal nature, we can begin to change our relationships with other animals, seeing them not as inferior lifeforms but as living creatures who have different ways of being alive. This powerful plea for a new understanding of our relationships with other animals will be of great interest to anyone concerned about the ecological crisis and the future of different species, including our own.

Educating For Ethical Survival Michael Schwartz, Charmayne Highfield, Hugh Breakey, Howard Harris, 2020-12-04. In this volume, experienced educators discuss the task of teaching ethics to professionals, managers, and others who are practically minded. Expert contributors explore the nature of ethical survival in contemporary society and the range of organizations it encompasses. Lessons of History Klas-Göran Karlsson, Maria Karlsson, 2025-07-01. Historical lessons are useful or even necessary for our guidance and orientation in time. These lessons, however, have often been overlooked in historical reflections on watershed moments such as genocides, treaties, and global movements. Focusing on how cataclysmic events, primarily within Central and Eastern Europe, have been transmitted across borders and generations, this volume interrogates how the theory of historical lessons has evolved, ultimately providing a useful framework for understanding contemporary conflicts and issues. Spanning topics from the mediation of history within film to the influence of historical oppression on student activism, this volume re-evaluates historiography's potential for analyzing the past and engaging with the present. Old Growth in a New World Thomas A. Spies, Sally L. Duncan, 2012-09-26. Old growth forests represent a lofty ideal as much as an ecosystem, an icon of unspoiled nature, ecological stability, and pristine habitat. These iconic notions have actively altered the way society relates to old growth forests, catalyzing major changes in policy and management. But how appropriate are those changes, and how well do they really serve in reaching conservation goals? Old Growth in a New World untangles the complexities of the old growth concept and the parallel complexity of old growth policy and management. It brings together more than two dozen contributors: ecologists, economists, sociologists, managers, historians, silviculturists, environmentalists, timber producers, and philosophers, to offer a broad suite of perspectives on changes that have occurred in the valuing and management of old growth forests in the Pacific Northwest over the past thirty years. The book introduces the issues and history of old growth values and conservation in the Pacific Northwest, explores old growth through the ideas of leading ecologists and social scientists addresses the implications for the future management of old growth forests and considers how evolving science and social knowledge might be used to increase conservation effectiveness By confronting the complexity of the old growth concept and associated policy and management challenges Old Growth in a New World encourages productive discussion on the future of old growth in the Pacific Northwest and offers options for more effective approaches to conserving forest biodiversity

Spiritual Formation in Local Faith Communities Neil Pembroke,Ewan Kelly,Theo Pleizier,William S. Schmidt,Jan-Albert van den Berg,2022-03-31 Spiritual formation in our local churches is too often poorly done or it is virtually nonexistent We developed this innovative approach to spiritual formation in the congregation because it is desperately needed The prompt cards are used to spark deep reflection and shape potentially life transforming conversations with a pastor around spiritual practices spiritual character personal and social ethics and emotional well being The model was trialed in five countries We heard time and time again how the six week process fired a passion to go deeper with Christ Some reported praying regularly for the first time in decades Others found the Scriptures coming alive after years of going through the motions In this book the authors present a simple but powerful method and offer in depth theological reflection on related issues Some of the important areas covered are early church approaches to spiritual formation contemporary spiritual practices spiritual character the indissoluble link between spirituality and moral virtue the spirituality of the pastor and the positive psychology approach
