
What is Compartment Fire Behavior Training?

Ed Hartin, MC, EFO, MIFireE, CFO

Compartment fire behavior training (CFBT) integrates the topics of fire behavior, fire streams and ventilation within a structural firefighting context. Safe and effective structural firefighting operations require: 1) A solid understanding of how a fire develops within a compartment or structure, 2) The ability to “read” fire behavior indicators, 3) Knowledge of how tactical operations will influence fire development and the environment inside the building, 4) A high level of skill in the application of these concepts. Often the topics of fire behavior, fire streams, ventilation, structural firefighting tactics, and live fire training are treated as related, but independent topics within fire service training. CFBT provides an integrated framework for developing structural firefighting knowledge and skills. While CFBT programs vary in duration and specific content, they generally integrate the following topics through classroom and hands-on training: Basic Fire Behavior, Fire Development in a Compartment, Extreme Fire Behavior, Fire Behavior Indicators, and Fire Suppression and Ventilation Tactics

Basic Fire Behavior

While seeming to be so fundamental, basic fire behavior is the starting point for understanding both fire development and fire control operations. However, the major difference between simple textbook definition of terms and concepts and CFBT is the direct application of theory to real world application.

While the origin of CFBT methods and practices can be traced to Sweden, this approach to developing firefighting knowledge and skill is throughout the world. Ed Hartin (USA) and Nils Bergstron (Sweden) deliver CBFT to a group of Malaysian fire officers attending training (below).
