Chapter XV. Jack Thayer's Story Wreck (of the Titanic)

One of the calmest of the passengers was: young Jack Thayer, the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Thayer. When his mother was put into the life-boat he kissed her and told her to be brave, saying that he and his father would be all right. He and Mr. Thayer stood on the deck as the small boat in which Mrs. Thayer was a passenger made off from the side of the Titanic over the smooth sea.

Sinking of the Titanic

The boy's own account of his experience as told to one of his mother's friends is one of the most remarkable of all the wonderful ones that have come out of this tremendous catastrophe:

"Father was in bed, and mother and myself were about to get into our nightgowns. There was no great shock. I was on my feet at the time and I do not remember any one throwing anyone down. I put on an overcoat and rushed to the deck. I saw nothing there. I then went forward to the bow. I saw no signs of ice. The only ice I saw was on the side of the ship, very far ahead, having just come out of a foggy night.

"I then went down to our room and my father and mother came with me, to the starboard side of A deck. We did not see any ice there. Father thought he saw small pieces of ice further forward, but not see any myself. There was no big berg. We waited a few minutes, and the ship had then a fair list to port. We stayed on the starboard side for about five minutes. The list seemed very slow.

"We then went down to our rooms on C deck, all of us, and put on our overcoats. We all put on life-preservers, and then we went out at different places until the women were all ordered to collect on the port side.

SEPARATED FROM PARENTS

"Father and I said good-bye to mother at the top of the stairs on A deck. She and the maid went right out on A deck on the port side and we

1. "Father went to leave."
2. "They went down to B deck and catch them, and lost sight of the members on I got (just) about the quarters of an hour later we saw the Carpathia, finally came into."
3. "What did the author of the historical account say about the actual historical event? What effect did it have on the reader?"

In the historical fiction, the author introduces a fictional character around his experiences during the sinking of the ship to create a personalized story.

1. What details do the main characters in the historical account provide about the sinking of the Titanic?
