Naughton,2024-11-26 Salmonella infection also known as Salmonellosis is a common zoonotic food borne infection in humans poultry and mammals The disease is commonly spread in humans through contaminated foods and the infection can develop into gastroenteritis enteric fever bacteraemia or focal disease The genus Salmonella contains only two species Salmonella enterica and Salmonella bongori which further subdivides into a number of serotypes resulting in either typhoid Salmonella and non typhoid Salmonella NTS infections The serotypes of S enterica such as Salmonella typhi and paratyphi are responsible for the typhoidal infections leading to enteric fever and other serotypes such as Salmonella typhimurium and enteridis are responsible for non typhoidal infections leading to gastroenteritis and focal disease Salmonella infections are one of the leading foods borne infections across the world resulting in socio economic and hospital burden There are continuous and ongoing efforts in understanding the structural features and mode of action of these pathogens vital in driving scientific discovery towards prevention and treatment strategies against these infections Through this research topic we aim to explore the scientific gaps associated with our understanding of Salmonella spp and its importance to design better drug and treatment modalities Ecology, Virulence and Detection of Pathogenic and Pandemic Vibrio

Parahaemolyticus Pendru Raghunath,Iddya Karunasagar,Indrani Karunasagar,2016-08-15 Vibrio parahaemolyticus is a gram negative halophilic bacterium that occurs in the coastal and estuarine environments worldwide and is implicated in several cases of seafood born gastroenteritis around the globe However not all strains of V parahaemolyticus are pathogenic Clinical isolates of V parahaemolyticus most often produce either the thermostable direct haemolysin TDH or TDH related haemolysin TRH encoded by tdh and trh genes respectively A pandemic clone of O3 K6 which was first detected in Kolkata India has been responsible for many outbreaks in Asia and the USA With the emergence of pandemic clone of V parahaemolyticus this organism has assumed significance Although most of the V parahaemolyticus outbreaks are invariably related to seafood consumption pathogenic strains are rarely isolated from seafood Virulent strains producing TDH or TRH and the pandemic clone which is responsible for most of the outbreaks that have occurred after 1996 have been rarely isolated from seafood and other environmental samples This could be due to the occurrence of pathogenic strains in the estuarine environment at a lower level compared to non pathogenic strains Another reason can be that the pathogenic stains are more sensitive to dystropic conditions in the aquatic environment and rapidly become non culturable Similarity in growth kinetics between virulent and non virulent strains also made the isolation of virulent strains from the aquatic environment difficult Several studies were done to determine the factors responsible for an increased virulence and persistance of pandemic clone However none of those studies were conclusive Several researchers have proposed various genetic markers for specific detection of pandemic clone of V parahaemolyticus But many of those genetic markers were found to be unreliable Recently seven genomic islands VPai 1 to VPai 7 unique to pandemic clone were identified This Research Topic is dedicated to improve our current understanding of ecology pathogenesis and detection of pathogenic and pandemic clone of V parahaemolyticus and will also strive to identify areas of future development Electronic Products Magazine ,1967
