Most studies of the Middle East commonly presume that the race signifier is reserved for the juxtaposition of Black and White identity to which the Arab Persian and Turkish world counts itself as exterior. Up until now few works on the Middle East have discussed race as central to their analysis. This book works to remedy this shortcoming by extending the critical scholarship on race and racial subordination to the region's states and societies. Crucially, how does race interact with and confront other categories of identity such as gender, religion, sect, and nationality? What can a consideration of racialisation reveal about structures of oppression in the Middle East and evolving forms of belonging and dispossession? Adopting race as the focus of enquiry allows us to unpack what we are really talking about when we talk about difference in the region: the reproduction and resilience of power and the insidious harmful mutations of identity-based discrimination in unequal societies. The Politics of Race and Racialisation in the Middle East is a significant new contribution to racial and ethnic studies and will be a great resource for academics, researchers, and advanced students of sociology, politics, history, social anthropology, political and cultural geography. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies.

Islam and Public Controversy in Europe Nilüfer Göle, 2016-05-06. The public visibility of Islam is becoming increasingly controversial throughout European countries. With case studies drawn from France, Germany, Italy, Spain, and the UK, this book examines a range of public issues including mosque construction, ritual slaughter, Sharia councils, and burqa bans, addressing the question of Islamic difference in public life outside the confines of established normative discourses that privilege freedom of religion, minority rights, or multiculturalism. Acknowledging the creative role of dissent, it explores the manner in which public controversies unsettle the religious/secular divide and reshape European norms in the domains of aesthetics, individual freedom, animal rights, and law. Developing an innovative conceptual framework and elaborating the notion of controversy as a methodological tool, Islam and Public Controversy in Europe draws our attention to the processes of interaction, confrontation, and mutual transformation, thereby opening up a new horizon for rethinking difference and pluralism in Europe. As such, it will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in religion, integration, cultural difference, and the public sphere.

Rethinking Modernity and National Identity in Turkey Sibel Bozdoğan, Resat Kasaba, 2011-11-15. In the first two decades after WW II, social scientists heralded Turkey as an exemplar of a modernizing nation in the Western mold. Images of unveiled women working next to clean-shaven men, healthy children in school uniforms, and downtown Ankara's modern architecture all proclaimed the country's success. Although Turkey's modernization began in the late Ottoman era, the establishment of the secular nation-state by Kemal Atatürk in 1923 marked the crystallization of an explicit elite-driven project of modernity that took its inspiration exclusively from the West. The essays in this book are the first attempt to examine the Turkish experiment with modernity from a broad interdisciplinary perspective encompassing the fields of history, the social sciences, the humanities, architecture, and urban planning. As they examine both the Turkish project of modernity and its critics, the contributors offer a fresh, balanced understanding of dilemmas now facing not only Turkey but also many other parts of the Middle East and the world at large      Women, Religion, and the State in Contemporary Turkey Chiara Maritato, 2020-05-28 A fascinating ethnography of the Diyanet's women sessions in Istanbul illuminating the current reconfigurations of Islam in Turkey      The Forbidden Modern Nilüfer Göle, 1996 A prominent Turkish sociologist examines the veiling of young university women and the cultural cleavages between the Islamic and Western worlds      Women, Gender, and Language in Morocco Fatima Sadiqi, 2003 This text is an original investigation in the complex relationship between women gender and language in a Muslim multilingual and multicultural setting Moroccan women's use of monolingualism oral literature and multilingualism code switching reflects their agency and gender role subversion in a heavily patriarchal society      The Marketization of Religion François Gauthier, Tuomas Martikainen, 2020-09-10 The Marketization of Religion provides a novel theoretical understanding of the relationship between religion and economy of today's world A major feature of today's capitalism is marketization While the importance that economics and economics related phenomena have acquired in modern societies has increased since the consumer and neoliberal revolutions and their shock waves worldwide social sciences of religion are still lagging behind acknowledging the consequences of these changes and incorporating them in their analysis of contemporary religion Religion as many other social realities has been traditionally understood as being of a completely different nature than the market Like oil and water religion and the market have been mainly cast as indissoluble into one another Even if notions such as the marketization commoditization or branding of religion and images such as the religious and spiritual marketplace have become popular some of the contributions aligned in this volume show how this usage is mostly metaphorical and at the very least problematic What does the marketization of religion mean The chapters provide both theoretical and empirical discussion of the changing dynamics of economy and religion in today's world Through the lenses of marketization the volume discusses the multiple at times surprising connections of a global religious reformation Furthermore in its use of empirical examples it shows how different religions in various social contexts are reformed due to growing importance of a neoliberal and consumerist logic This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Religion      La définition de l'agresseur dans le droit international moderne, 1968-12-01      Race and Ethnicity: Integration, adaptation and change Harry Goulbourne, 2001      Muslims and the News Media Elizabeth Poole, John E. Richardson, 2010-11-05 Muslims have featured in many of the more significant news stories of the past few years yet shockingly very few of these stories have been about anything other than the war on terror This urgently relevant book examines the role and representations of Muslims in the news media particularly within a climate of threat fear and misunderstanding Written by both academic authorities and media practitioners Muslims and the News Media is designed as a comprehensive and critical textbook and is set in both the British and international context Bringing together a range of insightful perspectives on the subject into a coherent whole the book clearly establishes the links between context content production and audiences thus reflecting the entire cycle of the communication process It reveals both the ways in which meaning is produced and reproduced in the news media and the ways in which audiences themselves both Muslim and non Muslim use or consume this media Significant too and discussed here is the role of Muslims themselves in the processes of news production Clarifying the circumstances and politics surrounding the representation of Muslims across a range of journalistic genres Muslims and the News Media provides crucial insights into the representation and misrepresentation of Islam and Muslims today
