Each organ system works on other systems within the body to do its "job". See below to learn just some of the ways that the endocrine system interacts with other organ systems.

Endocrine System: FACTS

Endocrine System: PROBLEMS

Most of the time, the endocrine system works perfectly well. However, sometimes problems can arise.

Diabetes

Diabetes is a condition that causes high blood glucose (sugar) levels. It is caused by the body being unable to either produce or use the hormone insulin. So, the glucose (sugar) gets stuck in the blood. Symptoms include increased thirst, weight loss, frequent urination, blurred vision, slow wound healing, and frequent weight changes, persistent acne, rashes, or itching in the hands.

Endocrine System: KEY TERMS

Term	Definition
Endocrine System	Network of endocrine glands that make, store, and release hormones.
Hormones	Chemical messengers that carry information and instructions from one cell to another.

Endocrine System: HORMONES

Hormones are chemical signals. Hormones are released by a gland and travel in the blood to a target cell. When it gets there, it tells the target cell to do something. Hormones can be made by the endocrine system or by other parts of the body.

Endocrine System: FIGHT-OR-FLIGHT

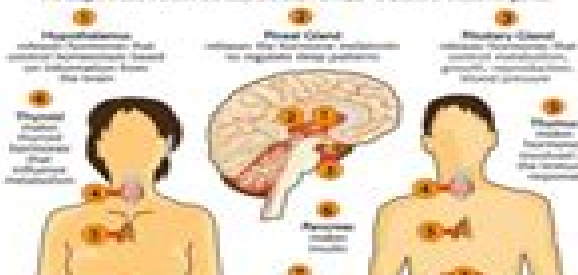

The fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when you are really frightened. The hormone adrenaline prepares the body to either fight or flee. When you are scared, your heart beats faster, your breathing gets deeper, and your senses become sharper. This helps you to react quickly to danger.

Adrenaline is a hormone that is released by the adrenal glands. It helps you to react quickly to danger. When you are scared, your heart beats faster, your breathing gets deeper, and your senses become sharper. This helps you to react quickly to danger.

Endocrine System: GLANDS

A gland is a structure that produces and releases substances that perform a specific function in the body. There are many different types of glands in the body. Some glands release hormones, while others release enzymes or sweat. The endocrine system is made up of glands that release hormones.

Endocrine System: FEEDBACK LOOPS

Endocrine activities are regulated by complex feedback loops. These feedback loops help the body maintain balance. When a hormone level is too high or too low, the body sends a signal to the glands to either produce more or less of that hormone.

For example, if blood sugar is too low, the pancreas releases the hormone insulin to help raise it. If blood sugar is too high, the pancreas releases the hormone glucagon to help lower it.

These feedback loops help the body stay healthy and balanced. Without them, the body would not be able to function properly.
