

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM

Endocrine System: WORKING TOGETHER

Each organ system works on other systems within the body to do its "job". Our bodies learn just some of the ways that the endocrine system interacts with other organ systems.

Nervous System

Circulatory System

Endocrine System: FACTS

Endocrine System: PROBLEMS

Most of the time, the endocrine system works perfectly well. However, sometimes problems can arise.

Diabetes

Diabetes is a condition that causes high blood glucose (sugar) levels. It is caused by the body being unable to either produce or use the hormone insulin. So, the glucose in blood sugar gets stuck in the blood. Symptoms include increased thirst, weight gain, changes in vision, increased weight changes, persistent sores, numbness or tingling in the hands.

Endocrine System: KEY TERMS

Term	Definition
Endocrine System	Network of endocrine glands that make, store, and release hormones.
Hormones	Chemical messengers that carry information and instructions from one cell to another.

Endocrine System: HORMONES

Hormones are chemical signals. Hormones are released into the bloodstream by endocrine glands. They travel through the bloodstream and bind to target cells, which then respond to the signal. Hormones can affect many different parts of the body. They can affect the way cells grow, the way cells function, and the way cells interact with each other.

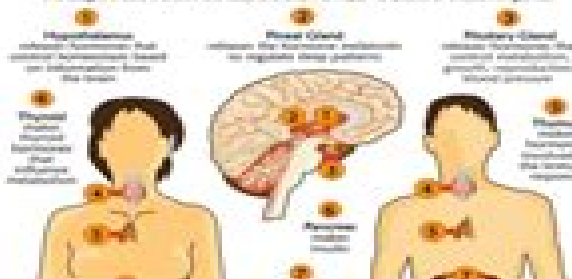

Endocrine System: FIGHT-OR-FLIGHT

The fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when we are really frightened. The body's fight-or-flight response is the body's way of reacting to a dangerous situation. When we are scared, our body releases hormones that make us feel alert and ready to fight or run away. These hormones also make our heart beat faster and our breathing deeper. The fight-or-flight response is a natural reaction that helps us survive in dangerous situations.

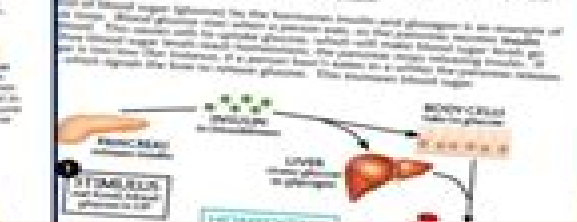

Endocrine System: GLANDS

A gland is a structure that produces and releases substances that perform a specific function in the body. There are many different types of glands in the body. Some glands release hormones, while others release enzymes or other substances. Glands are part of the endocrine system, which is responsible for producing and releasing hormones.

Endocrine System: FEEDBACK LOOPS

Endocrine activities are regulated by complex feedback loops. These feedback loops help the body maintain a balance of hormones. When a hormone level is too high or too low, the body sends a signal to the endocrine system to adjust the level. This signal is often a hormone itself, which then acts on the gland that produced the original hormone to either increase or decrease its production.
