NAIROBI COMMITMENTS

From 12-14 November 2019, a high-level conference was convened by over 8,000 people representing governments, civil society, people's organisations, academia and community leaders from 172 countries and territories to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD) in Cairo, Egypt in 1994. To provide a way forward that would see the 2030s realised by 2030, the Nairobi Statement was made. Importantly, this Statement is formulated around three key goals:

- 2030 universal need for family planning and information and services
- 2030 preventable maternal deaths
- 2030 sexual and gender-based violence and harmful practices against women and girls

Rajmani Singha, 2014-01-01 Youth is vibrant and critical stage in human life which is high on dreams enthusiasm idealism energetic insecurities threats confusions and challenges They wanted to taste new things new venture and new way of life without consideration of consequences seriously They are the most vital human resources for any developed and developing country They have to participate actively in various national developments programme and activities directly and indirectly and in shaping the destiny of the nation These volumes are the outcome of the contributions made by the renowned scholars who are actively associated with youth within and outside the country There are total 50 contributors in both the volumes covering various issues Volume One has total 28 research chapters divided broadly in 4 sections namely Youth Peace and Development Youth in Peace Building Process Role of Peace Building Organizations and Peace Education and Communication Partnership for change: promoting and protecting women's, children's and adolescents' health in a fragmented world World Health Organization, 2025-07-17 Guided by the power of communities equity and universal human rights the PMNCH 2026 2030 strategy is a blueprint to promote acceleration amplify advocacy and strengthen accountability to advance women s children s and adolescents health and well being WCAHW through to 2030 while also laying the groundwork for robust commitments in the post 2030 development agenda The aim is to ensure sustainable delivery of unmet WCAHW policy financing and service delivery commitments improvements to the health and well being of adolescents meaningfully engaging them as actors with rights to shape their own lives and the realization of SRHR With collaboration at its core PMNCH will enable and amplify its global community of courageous champions for a world where every woman child and adolescent can realize their right to health and well being where no woman mother newborn child or adolescent dies of preventable causes and where universal access to SRHR is upheld

Gender, Communications, and Reproductive Health in International Development Carolina Matos, 2023-06-15 To this day women globally are subjected to forms of control over their bodies and their ability to exercise their reproductive rights in particular is still constrained Amid a rise of challenges to the advancement of women s rights including the recent overturning of Roe v Wade in the United States sexual and reproductive health rights are at the forefront of conversations about the advancement of gender equality To determine how communications are used strategically to shape policy Carolina Matos explores fifty two feminist and health NGOs from across the world and how they are improving discourse on sexuality and reproductive health in the public sphere She investigates how these organizations are making use of communications amid various contemporary challenges including the proliferation of misinformation about women s rights and health in the public sphere due to the actions of oppositional far right nationalist groups Through original in depth interviews within the NGOs and empirical research of the institutions online presences Matos unpacks the complexities of the relationship between women s health communications and development contributing to the fields of development health communications and gender studies and advancing the debate on the role of feminist NGOs in advocating for women's rights With a postcolonial critique of the role of NGOs in development Matos illuminates the strategic use of communications in the mediation and advocacy of gender equality and reproductive health Women Empowerment and the Feminist Agenda in Africa Musingafi, Maxwell Constantine Chando, Hungwe, Chipo, 2023-10-24 This book argues that African women's lived experiences are often spoken about authoritatively by people who are not included within this demographic relegating these women to the role of spectators in their own stories The dominant narratives of African womanhood legitimized by intellectual discourse are neither written by African women nor Africans in general This book seeks to place feminism in Africa into its historical context by revisiting the experiences practices vision and theories of feminism and gender in Africa It is intended to serve as a comprehensive introduction to the field and provide a starting point for further and more advanced study of the nexus of feminism gender and development in Africa Women Empowerment and the Feminist Agenda in Africa is designed to initiate post graduate research and studies in the social sciences for directed and critical inquiry into the nature of feminist and gender politics and power relations in Africa It is written for researchers academics and advanced tertiary studies although professional gender and feminist organizations especially those in Africa or focusing on Africa will also find a wealth of information The book is recommended for university libraries post graduate students and staff the non governmental community in Africa women movement organizations in Africa independent researchers and academics and the African community at large Hiv/aids Great Britain.
