

Hymns for Communion

"Let Us Break Bread Together"

Let us praise God together on our knees
Let us praise God together on our knees
When I fall on my knees with my face to the rising sun
O Lord have mercy on me

Northwestern Christian Advocate ,1903 Christian Advocate ,1922 The Congregationalist and Christian World ,1901 Singing the Congregation Monique M. Ingalls,2018-09-17 Contemporary worship music shapes the way evangelical Christians understand worship itself Author Monique M Ingalls argues that participatory worship music performances have brought into being new religious social constellations or modes of congregating Through exploration of five of these modes concert conference church public and networked congregations Singing the Congregation reinvigorates the analytic categories of congregation and congregational music Drawing from theoretical models in ethnomusicology and congregational studies Singing the Congregation reconceives the congregation as a fluid contingent social constellation that is actively performed into being through communal practice in this case the musically structured participatory activity known as worship Congregational music making is thereby recast as a practice capable of weaving together a religious community both inside and outside local institutional churches Congregational music making is not only a means of expressing local concerns and constituting the local religious community it is also a powerful way to identify with far flung individuals institutions and networks that comprise this global religious community The interactions among the congregations reveal widespread conflicts over religious authority carrying far ranging implications for how evangelicals position themselves relative to other groups in North America and beyond Worship Jeffrey A. Singing the Gospel along Scotland's North-East Coast, 1859-2009 Frances Wilkins,2018-01-17 Following three years of ethnomusicological fieldwork on the sacred singing traditions of evangelical Christians in North East Scotland and Northern Isles coastal communities Frances Wilkins documents and analyses current singing practices in this book by placing them historically and contemporaneously within their respective faith communities In ascertaining who the singers were and why when where how and what they chose to sing the study explores a number of related questions How has sacred singing contributed to the establishment and reinforcement of individual and group identities both in the church and wider community What is the process by which specific regional repertoires and styles develop Which organisations and venues have been particularly conducive to the development of sacred singing in the community How does the subject matter of songs relate to the immediate environment of coastal inhabitants How and why has gospel singing in coastal communities changed These questions are answered with comprehensive reference to interview material fieldnotes videography and audio field recordings As one of the first pieces of ethnomusicological research into sacred music performance in Scotland this ethnography draws important parallels between practices in the North East and elsewhere in the British Isles and across the globe

The Sandemanian Story Derek B. Murray, 2024-04-12 The Glasites or Sandemanians were a branch of the church with their roots in Scotland but who spread much wider This study seeks to explore their distinctives both of theology and practice and to place them in a wider context The examination of a small sect serves to illuminate the wider story and this particular community nurtured within it several eminent thinkers whose influence has been of deep importance not the least the scientific pioneer Michael Faraday In exploring both their growth and their decline the author seeks to convey something of the flavor of this part of the church and to consider what their legacy is
