Grade 7 Reading Comprehension Worksheet

Beware of the Dog

By Roald Dahl

Read the passage. Then answer the questions.

Down below there was only a vast white undulating sea of cloud. Above there was the sun. He was still flying the Spitfire. His right hand was on the stick, and he was working the rudder bar with his left leg alone. The machine was flying well, and he knew what he was doing. Everything is fine, he thought. When I land I shall taxi in and switch off my engine and I shall say, help me to get out. I can't do it alone because I've lost one of my legs. He glanced down again at his right leg. The cannon shell had taken him on the thigh, just above the knee. It was just a mess which happened to be there in the cockpit. He really felt fine and unafraid. I'll make my report and later I'll go up to London. Then he saw the sun shining on the engine cowlings of his machine. He realized that he was no longer feeling good. But he knew that he was flying the Spitfire, and he could feel the handle of the stick between the fingers of his right hand. I'm going to pass out, he thought. He looked at his altimeter, twenty-one thousand and what? As he looked the dial became blurred. He knew then that he must bail out. Quickly, he tried to slide back the hood with his left hand, but he had not the strength, and with both hands he managed to push the hood back. He had a moment of great clearness. That is what happens with a good pilot. He took some quick deep breaths from his oxygen mask. He realized that he did not know where he was. It'll be the Channel, he thought. He pulled off his helmet, undid his straps, and pushed the stick hard over to the left and turned smoothly over onto its back. As he fell he opened his eyes, because he knew that he must not pass out before he had pulled the cord. For a time he lay there, idly letting the tips of his fingers play with the thing which they had touched. Then slowly he opened his eyes, and saw that he was holding something which was white. He knew it was a sheet because he could see the texture of the material and the stitching on the hem. He opened his eyes quickly. This time he saw the room. He saw the bed in which he was lying; he saw the grey walls and the door and the green curtains over the window. There were some roses on the table by his bed beside it there was a small medicine glass.
