Learnership July 2014:

Paratransit in African Cities Roger Behrens, Dorothy McCormick, David Mfinanga, 2015-09-07 Public transport systems in contemporary Sub Saharan African cities are heavily reliant upon paratransit services These services are defined as informal transportation which operates between the public and individual private spheres In Africa paratransit is characterized by low quality of vehicles and chaotic management but it also provides cheap accessible and flexible transport solutions for the urban poor It is typically poorly regulated and operates as a set of informal businesses A common result of weak public sector regulation and a fare strategy in which owners claim a fixed daily revenue target and drivers who keep the variable balance as income is destructive competition and poor quality of service There is an incontrovertible case for improving the quality reliability and coverage of public transport systems and some city governments have attempted to do so by initiating reform projects that envisage the phased replacement of paratransit operations with formalised bus rapid transit systems In this book the authors argue that there are however path dependencies and constraints that limit the possible extent of public transport system reform Paratransit operations also have some inherent advantages with respect to demand responsiveness and service innovation Attempts to eradicate paratransit may be neither pragmatic nor strategic Two future scenarios are likely hybrid systems comprised of both paratransit and formally planned modes and systems improved by upgrades and strengthened regulation of existing paratransit services The business strategies and aspirations of incumbent paratransit operators in three case cities Cape Town Dar es Salaam and Nairobi are discussed as well as their attitudes towards emerging public transport reform projects International experiences of hybrid system regulation and paratransit business development are reviewed in order to explore policy options The authors contend that policies recognising paratransit operators and seeking contextually appropriate complementarity with formalised planned services will produce greater benefits than policies ignoring their continued existence

The Delusion of Knowledge Transfer Susanne Koch, Peter Weingart, 2016-12-13 With the rise of the knowledge for development paradigm expert advice has become a prime instrument of foreign aid At the same time it has been object of repeated criticism the chronic failure of technical assistance a notion under which advice is commonly subsumed has been documented in a host of studies Nonetheless international organisations continue to send advisors promising to increase the effectiveness of expert support if their technocratic recommendations are taken up This book reveals fundamental problems of expert advice in the context of aid that concern issues of power and legitimacy rather than merely flaws of implementation Based on empirical evidence from South Africa and Tanzania the authors show that aid related advisory processes are inevitably obstructed by colliding interests political pressures and hierarchical relations that impede knowledge transfer and mutual learning As a result recipient governments find themselves caught in a perpetual cycle of dependency continuously advised by experts who convey the shifting paradigms and agendas of their respective donor governments For young democracies the persistent presence of external actors is hazardous ultimately it poses a threat to the legitimacy of their governments if their policy making becomes more responsive to foreign demands than to the preferences and needs of their citizens

Change Management in TVET Colleges Andre Kraak, Andrew Paterson, 2016-07-25 The Technical and Vocational Education and Training TVET college environment is marked by increasingly stark juxtapositions between what needs to be achieved in the post school education sector and the increasing difficulty of current conditions The triple challenge of poverty inequality and unemployment weighs heavily on the social political and economic fabric of the country and expectations are high that the TVET colleges can make a pivotal contribution to counter these challenges Despite laudable increases in TVET enrolment the education system needs to work harder to accommodate the weight of demand for post school further education and training FET band qualifications from young people not in education employment or training At the same time it is vital to secure adequate quality in TVET programmes which depend so much on the competence and commitment of college lecturers OECD Economic Surveys: South Africa 2015 OECD,2015-07-17 This 2015 OECD Economic Survey of South Africa examines recent economic developments policies and prospects Special chapters cover infrastructure and business regulation tax policy and inclusive growth

Foucault on Leadership Nathan W. Harter,2016-02-05 Michel Foucault one of the most cited scholars in the social sciences devoted his last three lectures to a study of leader development Going back to pagan sources Foucault found a persistent theme in Hellenistic antiquity that in order to qualify for leadership a person must undergo processes of subjectivation which is simply the way that a person becomes a Subject From this perspective an aspiring leader first becomes a Subject who happens to lead These processes depend on a condition of parresia which is truth telling at great risk that is for the edification of the other person A leader requires a mentor and advisors in order to lead successfully while also developing the capacity in one s own mind to heed the truth In other words a leader must learn how to guide oneself A valuable contribution to the field of leadership studies this book summarizes these last lectures as they pertain to the study and practice of leadership emphasizing the role of ethics and truth telling as a check on power It then presents several other contexts where these same lessons can be seen in practice including in the life of Alexander Solzhenitsyn whose career as a writer epitomized speaking truth to power and somewhat surprisingly in the United States military in response to its twenty first century mission of counterinsurgency Annual Report KwaZulu-Natal (South Africa). National Youth Development Agency,2016 Higher Education, Youth and Migration in Contexts of Disadvantage Faith Mkwanzani,2018-11-30 This book explores the lives experiences and the formation of higher educational aspirations among marginalised migrant youth in South Africa Using a case study based in Johannesburg the author illuminates their voices in order to demonstrate the reality faced by these young people in the context of migration to the Global South Within the complex landscape of global and African migration this book draws on detailed narratives to understand the conditions under which aspirations for higher education are or are not developed In doing so the author highlights the value of understanding individual lives experiences and opportunities from a human development point of view capturing the multidimensional disadvantages experienced by migrants in a balanced intersectional manner. Balancing empirical data with theoretical analysis, this volume tells a rich nuanced story about marginalised migrant youth, an essential work for understanding the conditions necessary for such youth to live valuable lives in both local and international contexts. This book will appeal to students and scholars of youth migration, aspiration and educational opportunities, particularly within the Global South.

Development Planning in South Africa John Reynolds, 2018-06-15

Celebrated as a beacon of democracy and reconciliation, many people in South Africa continue to live in severe poverty, particularly in the Eastern Cape Province. Backed by the United Nations Development Programme, the Eastern Cape's provincial government consequently launched an historically ambitious programme, the Provincial Growth and Development Plan, aimed at tackling the province's poverty, unemployment and inequality over a ten-year period in a radical policy overhaul. Drawing on the author's first-hand engagement with the planning process, Development Planning in South Africa is an empirically rich study that utilises a strategic relational approach to explore the ways in which this unprecedented challenge was negotiated and eventually undermined by the South African state. The first work of its kind, the book provides an indispensable micro-level study with profound implications for how state power is understood to be organised and expressed in state policy. Relevant beyond South Africa to policy implementation in both developing and developed states globally, the book is essential reading for students and scholars of government studies, political economy, development policy studies and social movements.
