Standards and Audits for Ethics Management Systems Josef Wieland, 2013-03-14. The articles collected in this volume deal with the contents and processes of good corporate practice. Their common question is how moral values and ethical demands can become an integral part of economic and corporate decisions in a way that is credible and comprehensible for the society. Generally accepted best practice or minimum requirements for codes of conduct matter in this context. They codify values like integrity, fairness, openness, honesty, truthfulness, solidarity and justice which have to be implemented in a company's day to day business. In one sentence: There is a need to develop criteria for seriousness and credibility for evaluating and controlling standards of conduct and the managerial systems created for this purpose. In the international arena terms like Ethics management system, Ethics program, Values program, Ethics audit and Social audit are in use to denote these management systems. In this context it seems to me that the European perspective results from the values driven integration of corporate governance e.g. risk management, compliance, quality management e.g. human capital, supply chain and corporate citizenship, human rights, ecology, social responsibility, community into a comprehensive and consistent management decision system. The core value and common denominator of these areas is sustainability. This, for instance, as opposed to narrow compliance programs that are largely law driven, to use a distinction which Lynn S. Paine introduced.
