Ethiopian Grade 11 Student:

Secondary Education in Ethiopia Rajendra Joshi, Adriaan Verspoor, 2012-11-01 This book discusses reforms that should be undertaken in secondary education to support Ethiopia's transition from a low to middle income economy. The most critical reform identified is the introduction of a flexible curriculum that serves the needs of all students including those who may not pursue higher education.

Perceptions and Difficulties of Students in Large EFL Classes. Grade 11 Students in Focus Yirgalem Girma, 2023-03-13 Master's Thesis from the year 2023 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 3-81 Addis Ababa University language English abstract The major objective of the study was to assess students' perceptions towards EFL large classes in terms of its instructional, psychological and social aspects and their perceived challenges. To this end, two preparatory schools were selected owing to their convenience for the study, the researchers' familiarity with the situation and the serious situational constraints related to EFL large class size with special reference to grade eleven. To achieve the purpose of the study, a descriptive research method was employed because the main objective was just to gather information about students' perceptions and their perceived difficulties. Likert scale type questionnaires and semi-structured interviews were employed to gather adequate data from the student respondents but only open-ended and close-ended questionnaires were distributed to eight randomly selected EFL teachers to confirm data obtained from their students. The instruments were piloted before the main study on 20 students and some modifications were made on their grammar and wordings but six items were rejected. Out of 1545 students, 155 were selected as samples through simple random sampling technique and ten of them were voluntarily selected and interviewed. The data collected through Likert type questionnaires were analyzed through descriptive statistics like frequency percentages and means. Data gathered through interview were analyzed through descriptive statements. The data gathered through questionnaires were substantiated by the data obtained through interview.

The second part describes the official status of languages, the effects of migrations, urbanization and education and discusses the spread of Amharic and patterns of bilingualism. The third part analyses in detail the organization of language teaching and teacher training in Ethiopia.

Thinking Outside the Box Eva Poluha, 2016-01-28 This book sets out with the question why Ethiopia, a country with one of the oldest still existing state formations in the world and a farming population that has domesticated a number of indigenous food products including coffee, oilseeds and Eragrostis teff, remains one of the poorest in the world. To answer this question, the authors review the history of Ethiopia from the earliest centuries A.D. until the 21st century, dispelling a number of prevalent myths in the process. The book covers topics such as ethnicity, a hot issue in today's Ethiopian politics, international relations with especially Britain and Italy and the country's lack of technical and economic progress. A survey of the current situation in Ethiopia sets the scene for comparisons with other countries. An examination of the history of the West illustrates how the autonomy of intellectual inquiry could promote a spiral of knowledge, pave the way for the Industrial Revolution and allow western countries to attain the highest standard of living in the world. A review of some East Asian countries, Japan, South Korea and Taiwan, exemplifies how they could catch up with the West. Against the backdrop of these studies, the authors find the basic causes for Ethiopia's poverty to be missed or messed up opportunities to adopt available scientific knowledge and technology. Premising that a decent living standard, a catch up, should be the only reasonable goal also for Ethiopian citizens, the authors propose that the country must emphasize promotion of a knowledge and information rather than focusing numbers of school children and schools and of entrepreneurship in all economic sectors. To boost these requirements successfully, the authors argue that all involved in the present development agenda need to think outside the box and reassess at least two common assumptions about Ethiopia's future, namely that only heavy-handed state guidance can bring about rapid development and that peasants and pastoralists are ignorant and must be told what to do. Database on Ethiopian Educational Research Amare Asgedom, Getahun Watumo, Wossenu Yimam, 2000

The Making of Elite Women Tanja Müller, 2021-11-29. This book is a thorough study about the upbringing of elite women in Eritrea encompassing the time of the armed struggle for liberation as well as its aftermath up to the tenth anniversary of Eritrean independence in 2001 and beyond. It is a multi-disciplinary study combining a comprehensive analysis of Eritrean history, society, and political developments with extensive case study research into the lives of different groups of elite women. Modernisation processes created by the Eritrean revolution fostered an environment in which women are regarded as equal and encouraged to occupy positions of leadership. At the same time, the revolution's hegemonic ideology does not envisage women opting out of its version of modernity; thus, new avenues open up only for those who subscribe to the revolution's narrative of progress. Furthermore, it is argued that while the Eritrean revolution played a decisive role in opening up possibilities for women's emancipation, a failure to implement democratic structures of governance puts the revolution's societal achievements at risk; its legacy might well rest with

Revolutionary Struggles and Girls' Education Thera Mjaaland,2021-07-27 Revolutionary Struggles and Girls Education At the Frontiers of Gender Norms in North Ethiopia argues that at the base of girls poorer performance than boys at secondary school level when puberty has set in is the symbolic violence entailed in sanctioned femaleness Informed by the modesty of Virgin Mary in Orthodox Christian veneration it instructs girls to internalize a holding back which impinges on her self efficacy and ability to be an active learner Neoliberally informed educational policies and plans which have co-opted liberal feminism also in Ethiopia do not address hard lived gender norms and the power and domination dynamics entailed when parity between boys and girls in school continues to be the dominant measure for equity Despite women s courageous contribution at a literal frontier during the Tigrayan liberation struggle 1975 91 where they fought on equal terms with men and despite the tendency that girls outnumber boys at secondary level in the present context sanctioned femaleness constitutes a frontier for girls educational success and transition to higher education In fact when teaching learning continues to be based on memorization rather than critical thinking the very transformative potential of education is undermined also in a gendered sense
