Political Pressures on Educational and Social Research Karen Trimmer, 2016-05-12 Political Pressures on Educational and Social Research draws upon a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches to consider the problems that can arise when research findings diverge from political directions for policy. Chapters explore the impacts this can have on the researchers as well as the influence it has on the research including the methodology and the publication of results. The book offers innovative ways of seeing how these connect, overlap and interact, revealing particular issues of concern for researchers and evaluators in the context of research internationally. Key topics include the power and positioning of research, evidence-based policy development, ethics and the importance of research that seeks to explore and discover knowledge. The book is divided into two sections. The first presents chapters from international academics which provide a theoretical underpinning and discussion of power, policy, ethics and their influence on research, resourcing, autonomy, purpose and methodology. The second section explores specific case studies and instances from the authors' own experiences in the field. This book offers an interesting and enlightening insight into the sometimes political nature of research and will appeal to researchers, evaluators and postgraduate students in the fields of education and the social sciences. It will be of particular interest to those studying research methods.

Argumentative Writing in a Second Language Alan R. Hirvela, Diane Belcher, 2021-12-13 Argumentative Writing in a Second Language is a collection on teaching argumentative writing, offering multiple vantage points drawn from the contributors' own teaching and research experiences. The value of learning how to compose argumentative texts cannot be overstated and yet very little attention has been allocated to the equally important topic of how argumentation is or can be taught in the L2 context. Thus this volume shifts attention to teachers and argumentative writing instruction, especially within increasingly common multimodal and digital literacy settings. While doing so, it provides a comprehensive, wide-ranging view of the L2 argumentative writing landscape within an instructional lens. Part I of the volume is topic-oriented and focuses on explorations of important issues and perspectives, while Part II features several chapters reporting classroom-based studies of a variety of instructional approaches that expand our understanding of how argumentative writing can be taught. The book will be of value to pre-service and in-service teachers in varying instructional contexts as well as teacher educators and L2 writing scholars/researchers.

Confronting Oppressive Assessments Walter S. Polka, John William McKenna, 2016-09-14 This book is about doing what s right for public education in the United States in this age of intensive curriculum convergence planned instructional standardization and oppressive accountability procedures Information is presented about why and how educators parents students community members and policy makers have decided to protest against current state and federal educational policies and procedures The practical experiences of parents teachers principals school superintendents school board members and professors are analyzed in chapters of this book Their first hand experiences with the various components of the current reform movement are poignantly presented Through their voices the frustrations with the serious flaws associated with this reform agenda are passionately and logically articulated They comprehensively explain their personal and professional motivations for organizing and fomenting a rethinking in school reform implementation procedures and they advocate their smarter approach to school reforms in our country The book includes key references that elucidate the need to seriously re think the directions and strategies of contemporary schooling in order to maintain enlightened creative instruction based on exciting student centered curriculum experiences and professional educational judgments

Teaching to Change the World Jeannie Oakes, Martin Lipton, Lauren Anderson, Jamy Stillman, 2018-01-29 Teaching to Change the World is an up to the moment engaging social justice oriented introduction to education and teaching and the challenges and opportunities they present Both foundational and practical the chapters are organized around conventional topics but in a way that consistently integrates a coherent story that explains why schools are as they are Taking the position that a hopeful democratic future depends on ensuring that all students learn the text pays particular attention to inequalities associated with race social class language gender and other social categories and explores teachers role in addressing them This thoroughly revised fifth edition remains a vital introduction to the profession for a new generation of teachers who seek to become purposeful knowledgeable practitioners in our ever changing educational landscape for those teachers who see the potential for education to change the world Features and Updates of the New Edition Fully updated Chapter 1 The U S Schooling Dilemma reflects our current state of education after the 2016 U S presidential election First person observations from teachers including first year teachers continue to offer vivid authentic pictures of what teaching to change the world means and involves Additional coverage of the ongoing effects of Common Core highlights the heated public discourse around teaching and teachers and charter schools Attention to diversity and inclusion is treated as integral to all chapters woven throughout rather than tacked on as separate units Digging Deeper resources on the new companion website include concrete resources that current and future teachers can use in their classrooms Tools for Critique provides instructors and students questions prompts and activities aimed at encouraging classroom discussion and particularly engaging those students least familiar with the central tenets of social justice education Collecting for the Curriculum Amy J. Catalano, 2015-09-28 If you re a librarian charged with collecting curriculum materials and children s literature to support the Common Core State Standards then this book the only one that offers explicit advice on collection development in curriculum collections is for you While there are many publications on the Common Core for school librarians and K 12 educators no such literature exists for curriculum librarians at the post secondary level This book fills that gap standing alone as a guide to collection development for curriculum librarians independent of the Common Core State Standards CCSS The book provides instruction and guidance to curriculum librarians who acquire and manage collections so you can develop a collection based on best practices The book begins with a primer on the CCSS and how curriculum librarians can support them Discussion of the Standards is then woven through chapters arranged by content area that share research based practices in curriculum development and instruction to guide you in curriculum selection Material types covered include games textbooks children s literature primary sources counseling and nonfiction Additional chapters cover the management of curriculum collections testing collections and instruction and reference as well as how to support and collect for special needs learners Current practices in collection development for curriculum materials librarians are also reviewed The book closes with a discussion of the future of curriculum materials

Second International Research Handbook on Values Education and Student Wellbeing Terence Lovat,Ron Toomey,Neville Clement,Kerry Dally,2023-11-14 This collection applies the principles underlying values education to addressing the many social and learning challenges that impinge on education today Insights in the fields of social and emotional learning student wellbeing and increasingly educational neuroscience have demonstrated that values education represents an efficacious pedagogy with holistic effects on students across a range of measures including social emotional and intellectual outcomes With schools in the 21st century confronting issues such as gender identity stemming radicalism mental health equity for disadvantaged groups bullying respect and the meaning of consent values education offers a way of teaching and learning that integrates and enhances student s affective and cognitive functioning The earlier edition of this book has become a standard reference for scholars and practitioners in the fields of values education moral education and character education Its citation rates reads and downloads have been consistently and enduringly high as have those of its companion text Values Pedagogy and Student Achievement A decade on the main purpose of the revised edition is to update and incorporate new research and practice relevant to values education Recent insights in the fields of neuroscience and social and emotional learning and their implications for education and student wellbeing are more overt than they were when the first edition was being compiled Additionally advanced thinking in the field of epistemology how humans come to know and therefore learn has also sharpened especially through the later writings of prominent scholars like Jurgen Habermas The revised edition has preserved the essential spirit and thrust of the original edition while making space for some of these new insights about the potential of values education to establish optimal and harmonious learning and social environments for both students and teachers

The Handbook of Plurilingual and Intercultural Language Learning Christiane Fäcke,Xuesong (Andy) Gao,Paula Garrett-Rucks,2024-11-12 The most up to date reference text on the latest science in plurilingual and intercultural language education covering both new research and current practice The Handbook of Plurilingual and Intercultural Language Learning reveals the nuances and complexities of teaching and learning languages while providing a timely account of the most recent developments and research in the field. The first reference work to examine plurilingual and intercultural language teaching and learning trends across five continents, this innovative volume examines the various ways learners acquire language. Divided into four sections, this Handbook explains the conceptual basis of intercultural and plurilingual learning, describes core pedagogical concepts in different contexts, discusses various learning and teaching approaches, and surveys the historical development of foreign language instruction methods and theories. In-depth chapters address code switching and translanguaging, equity in foreign language learning, intercultural sensitivity, technology-enhanced learning, world Englishes, the role of language policy in nation building, the situations of migrants in language classrooms, and more. A field-defining overview of the latest research on the science of language education and acquisition, The Handbook of Plurilingual and Intercultural Language Learning explores how policy and pedagogy can adapt to the shifting demographics of local student populations as the world becomes increasingly mobile. Addresses new trends and evolving themes that are currently determining the future of language education and policy around the world. Discusses future trends in language education, policy, assessment, and teacher training in light of new attitudes about language, community, and statehood. Features contributions from a wide range of scholars reflecting different cultural, linguistic, regional, and ideological perspectives. Introduces European research discourses on intercomprehension into the English-speaking world. Part of the Wiley Blackwell Handbooks in Linguistics series. The Handbook of Plurilingual and Intercultural Language Learning is an essential resource for students, educators, and researchers in Applied Linguistics, language teaching and learning, English as a Lingua Franca, plurilingualism, multilingualism, TESOL, cognitive linguistics, language policy, language acquisition, and intercultural communication.
