Grade Final Examination 2014 Economics Paper 1:

Making College Work Harry J. Holzer, Sandy Baum, 2017-08-15 Practical solutions for improving higher education opportunities for disadvantaged students Too many disadvantaged college students in America do not complete their coursework or receive any college credential while others earn degrees or certificates with little labor market value Large numbers of these students also struggle to pay for college and some incur debts that they have difficulty repaying The authors provide a new review of the causes of these problems and offer promising policy solutions The circumstances affecting disadvantaged students stem both from issues on the individual side such as weak academic preparation and financial pressures and from institutional failures Low income students disproportionately attend schools that are underfunded and have weak performance incentives contributing to unsatisfactory outcomes for many students Some solutions including better financial aid or academic supports target individual students Other solutions such as stronger linkages between coursework and the labor market and more structured paths through the curriculum are aimed at institutional reforms All students and particularly those from disadvantaged backgrounds also need better and varied pathways both to college and directly to the job market beginning in high school We can improve college outcomes but must also acknowledge that we must make hard choices and face difficult tradeoffs in the process While no single policy is guaranteed to greatly improve college and career outcomes implementing a number of evidence based policies and programs together has the potential to improve these outcomes substantially

Politics and Governance of Basic Education Brian Levy, Robert Cameron, Ursula Hoadley, Vinodhan Naidoo, 2018-09-21 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations All over the world economic inclusion has risen to the top of the development discourse A well performing education system is central to achieving inclusive development but the challenge of improving educational outcomes has proven to be unexpectedly difficult Access to education has increased but quality remains low with weaknesses in governance comprising an important part of the explanation The Politics and Governance of Basic Education explores the balance between hierarchical and horizontal institutional arrangements for the public provision of basic education Using the vivid example of South Africa a country that had ambitious goals at the outset of its transition from apartheid to democracy it explores how the interaction of politics and institutions affects educational outcomes By examining lessons learned from how South Africa failed to achieve many of its goals it constructs an innovative alternative strategy for making process combining practical steps to achieve incremental gains to re orient the system towards learning

Facing Forward Sajitha Bashir, Marlaine Lockheed, Elizabeth Ninan, Jee-Peng Tan, 2018-09-20 Facing Forward lays out a range of policy and implementation actions that are needed for countries in Sub Saharan Africa to meet the challenge of improving learning while expanding access and completion of basic education for all The book underscores the importance of aligning

the education system to be relentlessly focused on learning outcomes and to ensuring that all children have access to good schools good learning materials and good teachers It is unique in characterizing countries according to the challenges they faced in the 1990s and the educational progress they have made over the past 25 years allowing countries in the region to learn from each other The authors review the global literature and add to it by their extensive new analyses of multiple datasets from more than three dozen countries in the region they integrate findings about what affects children s learning their access to schooling and progress through basic education The book draws lessons from the region and for the region about what works and what is needed to better implement what is known to have worked The book examines four areas to help countries better align their systems to improve learning 1 completing the unfinished agenda of reaching universal basic education with quality 2 ensuring effective management and support of teachers 3 targeting spending priorities and budget processes on improving quality and 4 closing the institutional capacity gap It concludes with an assessment of how future educational progress may be affected by projected fertility rates and economic growth

PISA Balancing School Choice and Equity An International Perspective Based on Pisa OECD,2019-10-01 Many countries are struggling to reconcile greater flexibility in school choice with the need to ensure quality equity and coherence in their school systems This report provides an international perspective on issues related to school choice especially how certain aspects of school choice policies may be associated with sorting students into different schools

Poverty, Prosperity, and Planet Report 2024 World Bank, 2024-10-15 The Poverty Prosperity and Planet Report 2024 is the latest edition of the series formerly known as Poverty and Shared Prosperity The report emphasizes that reducing poverty and increasing shared prosperity must be achieved in ways that do not come at unacceptably high costs to the environment The current polycrisis where the multiple crises of slow economic growth increased fragility climate risks and heightened uncertainty have come together at the same time makes national development strategies and international cooperation difficult Offering the first post Coronavirus COVID 19 pandemic assessment of global progress on this interlinked agenda the report finds that global poverty reduction has resumed but at a pace slower than before the COVID 19 crisis Nearly 700 million people worldwide live in extreme poverty with less than US 2.15 per person per day Progress has essentially plateaued amid lower economic growth and the impacts of COVID 19 and other crises Today extreme poverty is concentrated mostly in Sub Saharan Africa and fragile settings At a higher standard more typical of upper middle income countries US 6.85 per person per day almost one half of the world is living in poverty The report also provides evidence that the number of countries that have high levels of income inequality has declined considerably during the past two decades but the pace of improvements in shared prosperity has slowed and that inequality remains high in Latin America and the Caribbean and Sub Saharan Africa Worldwide people's incomes today would need to increase fivefold on average to reach a minimum prosperity threshold of US 25 per person per day Where there has been progress in poverty reduction and shared prosperity there is evidence of an increasing ability of countries to manage natural hazards but climate risks are significantly higher in the poorest settings Nearly one in five people globally is at risk of experiencing welfare losses due to an extreme weather event from which they will struggle to recover The interconnected issues of climate change and poverty call for a united and inclusive effort from the global community Development cooperation stakeholders from governments nongovernmental organizations and the private sector to communities and citizens acting locally in every corner of the globe hold pivotal roles in promoting fair and sustainable transitions By emphasizing strategies that yield multiple benefits and diligently monitoring and addressing trade offs we can strive toward a future that is prosperous equitable and resilient

Productivity in Higher Education Caroline M. Hoxby, Kevin Stange, 2020-01-10 How do the benefits of higher education compare with its costs and how does this comparison vary across individuals and institutions These questions are fundamental to quantifying the productivity of the education sector The studies in Productivity in Higher Education use rich and novel administrative data modern econometric methods and careful institutional analysis to explore productivity issues The authors examine the returns to undergraduate education differences in costs by major the productivity of for profit schools the productivity of various types of faculty and of outcomes the effects of online education on the higher education market and the ways in which the productivity of different institutions responds to market forces The analyses recognize five key challenges to assessing productivity in higher education the potential for multiple student outcomes in terms of skills earnings invention and employment the fact that colleges and universities are multiproduct firms that conduct varied activities across many domains the fact that students select which school to attend based in part on their aptitude the difficulty of attributing outcomes to individual institutions when students attend more than one and the possibility that some of the benefits of higher education may arise from the system as a whole rather than from a single institution The findings and the approaches illustrated can facilitate decision making processes in higher education

The Political Economy of Human Behaviour and Economic Development Sangaralingam Ramesh, 2022-09-24 This book explores how economics can be based around studies on human behaviour rather than relying on overly simplified assumptions generated from mathematical modelling Through examining the link between human economic activity and psychology specifically regarding the development of cognitive and non cognitive ability insight into the human dimensions of economic development and the sources of human inequality are provided This book aims to question assumptions of rationality utilised in neoclassical economic theory and suggest how economic activity can be better understood through a deeper recognition of human behaviour It will be relevant to students and researchers interested in the political economy and behavioural economics
