NOTE: 1 gallon = 3,785 litres

Use the information above to answer the questions that follow.

- 3.2.1 Calculate (in litres) the volume of water used during February 2022 by a family of five, if each person flushed the toilet an average FOUR times a day during the month. (3)
- 3.2.2 State ONE way in which a person can save water in this context. (2)

Singapore Pundarik Mukhopadhaya, 2014-03-26 The World Bank 1993 conferred on Singapore the status of tiger economy because of its two miraculous characteristics high growth and reduced income inequality Expansion of educational provision is one of the major policies the Government of Singapore followed since 1975 particularly to enrich the human capital endowment of the country which has been crucial to the success of Singapore This book made a coherent study of these extremely important issues to examine the trend and pattern of income inequality in Singapore The book delves further into the trend and pattern of income inequality in Singapore and their implications for the future It attempts to analyse the links between social welfare and inequality in the light of rapid economic growth phase and adduced important policy implications The concepts and methodologies used in this book as well as the novelty of analyses and policy implications make this a coherent and in depth study of extremely important issues with most up to date observations In the last three decades no such book on Singapore has been written and this book fills the gap in existing literature It is a must read for anyone who is interested to learn more about the tiger economy of Singapore Big Data John Storm Pedersen, Adrian Wilkinson, 2019

Promise Application and Pitfalls Adapt and Be Adept Terry L. Anderson, 2021-04-01 How can markets help us adapt to the challenges of climate change Editor Terry L Anderson brings together this collection of essays featuring the work of nine leading policy analysts who argue that market forces are just as important as government regulation in shaping climate policy and should be at the heart of our response to helping societies adapt to climate change Anderson notes in his introduction that most current climate policies such as the Paris Agreement require hard to enforce collective action and focus on reducing or mitigating greenhouse gases rather than adapting to their negative effects Adaptive actions can typically deliver much more faster and more cheaply than any realistic climate policy The authors tackle a range of issues the hidden costs of renewable energy sources the political obstacles surrounding climate change policy insurance and financial instruments for pricing risk of exposure to the effects of climate change and more Reliance on emerging renewable energies and a carbon tax are not enough to prevent the effects of global warming they argue We must encourage more private action and market incentives to adapt to a rapidly changing climate My School Lesley Scanlon,2014-12-17 Education issues feature almost daily in print media online on the radio and on television much of which focuses on the perceived deficits of students and teachers Singled out for special attention are low socio economic status SES schools which are frequently characterised by teachers and students with little investment in learning and teaching Yet within this plethora of educational discussion there is no contemporary longitudinal study of what it means to learn and teach in a disadvantaged school within the policy context of the education revolution in Australia Drawing on 500 interviews conducted over a four period with the Principal parents teachers and students at a regional low SES school this book challenges the profile of one school as represented on the My School website which publishes the results of National Assessment Program in Literacy and Numeracy NAPLAN Chapters situate the original research within an international and national educational context before exploring topics including leadership and management student behaviour constructs of the good teacher the involvement of parents in school and the digital revolution The book closes with an appraisal of the major themes that emerged from the multiple perspectives of the study This is the first book to provide a longitudinal ethnographic study of a school in Australia which examines the impact of the education revolution on the Principal parents teachers and students It comprehensively challenges the official My School representation of a low SES school and will appeal to researchers in education as well as those involved in postgraduate teacher education and sociology courses both from Australia and internationally
