subjected to a period of change as rapid and extensive as took place from the 1970s onwards In the 1970s global financial markets were controlled by governments compartmentalized along national boundaries and segregated according to the particular activities they engaged in This all disintegrated in the decades that followed under the pressure of market forces global integration and a revolution in the technology of trading One product of this transformation was the Global Financial Crisis of 2008 which exposed the fragility of the new structures created and cast a long shadow that we still live in today The response to that crisis has shaped the global financial system which has been tested once again by the coronavirus pandemic However none of the outcomes of this transformation were inevitable despite the forces at work They were the product of decisions taken at the time for a multitude of reasons Banks exchanges and regulators were faced with unprecedented challenges and opportunities as a revolution swept away traditional ways of conducting banking the methods used to trade in
