Predictive Species and Habitat Modeling in Landscape Ecology C. Ashton Drew, Yolanda F. Wiersma, Falk Huettmann, 2010-11-25 Most projects in Landscape Ecology at some point define a species habitat association These models are inherently spatial dealing with landscapes and their configurations Whether coding behavioral rules for dispersal of simulated organisms through simulated landscapes or designing the sampling extent of field surveys and experiments in real landscapes landscape ecologists must make assumptions about how organisms experience and utilize the landscape These convenient working postulates allow modelers to project the model in time and space yet rarely are they explicitly considered The early years of landscape ecology necessarily focused on the evolution of effective data sources metrics and statistical approaches that could truly capture the spatial and temporal patterns and processes of interest Now that these tools are well established we reflect on the ecological theories that underpin the assumptions commonly made during species distribution modeling and mapping This is crucial for applying models to questions of global sustainability Due to the inherent use of GIS for much of this kind of research and as several authors research involves the production of multicolored map figures there would be an 8 page color insert Additional color figures could be made available through a digital archive or by cost contributions of the chapter authors Where applicable would be relevant chapters GIS data and model code available through a digital archive The practice of data and code sharing is becoming standard in GIS studies is an inherent method of this book and will serve to add additional research value to the book for both academic and practitioner audiences

Facing Global Environmental Change Hans Günter Brauch,Navnita Chadha Behera,Patricia Kameri-Mbote,John Grin,Úrsula Oswald Spring,Béchir Chourou,Czeslaw Mesjasz,Heinz Krummenacher,2009-06-04 The year 2007 could perhaps accurately be described as the year when climate change finally received the attention that this challenge deserves globally. Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the Fourth Assessment Report AR4 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media. This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large. The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore. By taking this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on climate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings, the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world.

General Studies Vol.7 (Environment & Ecology) YCT Expert Team, 2022-23. All IAS PCS General Studies Vol 7 Environment Ecology Chapter wise Solved Papers. Social Justice, Peace, and Environmental Education Julie Andrzejewski, Marta Baltodano, Linda Symcox, 2009-04-01. The concept of standards seems antithetical to the ways critical educators are dedicated to teaching, but what would standards look like if they were generated from social justice perspectives and through collaborative and inclusive processes? Such is the central question posed by the contributors of this groundbreaking collection on the interconnectivity of social justice, peace, and environmental preservation. Challenging education that promotes consumerism, careerism, and corporate profiteering, they boldly offer examples of a new paradigm for practicing a transformative critical pedagogy. Rather than just talking about coalition building within and across educational communities they demonstrate how we might communicate from different vantage points and disciplinary boundaries to create a broader picture of social and eco justice Social Justice Peace and Environmental Education will be required reading for educators and students who want to envision and practice living acting and teaching for a better world Successful Online Learning: Managing the Online Learning Environment Efficiently and Effectively Theresa A.
