security are key topics within the field of agronomy and agricultural research. Contested Agronomy addresses these issues by exploring key developments since the mid 1970s focusing in particular on the emergence of the neoliberal project and the rise of the participation and environmental agendas taking into consideration how these have had profound impacts on the practice of agronomic research in the developing world especially over the last four decades. This book explores through a series of case studies the basis for a much needed political agronomy analysis that highlights the impacts of problem framing and narratives, historical disjunctures, epistemic communities and the increasing pressure to demonstrate success on both agricultural research and the farmers, processors and consumers it is meant to serve. Whilst being a fascinating and thought provoking read for professionals in the Agriculture and Environmental sciences it will also appeal to students and researchers in agricultural policy development studies, geography, public administration, rural sociology and science and technology studies. This book provides intriguing insights into the development of highly qualified women leaders in diverse Indian contexts and their role at national and organizational levels. While India has made enormous economic strides in the past few decades, gender inequality and underutilization of female talent remain deeply rooted and widely spread in many parts of Indian society. This book addresses an urgent need to stop treating Indian women as under developed human capital and begin realizing their potential as leaders of quality work. This book will fill the gap of research on international leadership for students, academics and multinational organizations. Handbook of Algal Technologies and Phytochemicals Gokare A.
