Environmental Health Risks United States. General Accounting Office,2002 Health Risks from Dioxin and Related Compounds National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology,Committee on EPA's Exposure and Human Health Reassessment of TCDD and Related Compounds,2006-11-20 Although the U S Environmental Protection Agency presented a comprehensive review of the scientific literature in its 2003 draft reassessment of the risks of dioxin the agency did not sufficiently quantify the uncertainties and variabilities associated with the risks nor did it adequately justify the assumptions used to estimate them according to this new report from the National Academies National Research Council The committee that wrote the report recommended that EPA re estimate the risks using several different assumptions and better communicate the uncertainties in those estimates The agency also should explain more clearly how it selects both the data upon which the reassessment is based and the methods used to analyze them Environmental Health Risks David G. Wood,2002-07 Some dioxins which are chemical compounds that share certain structural and biological characteristics have been linked to adverse human health effects including cancer 1 Often the byproducts of combustion and industrial processes complex mixtures of dioxins enter the food chain and human diet through emissions into the air that settle on soil plants and water The Environmental Protection Agency EPA and other entities such as the World Health Organization began assessing the potential human health risks of dioxins in the 1970s when animal studies on one of them 2 3 7 8 tetrachlorodibenzo p dioxin or TCDD showed it to be the most potent cancer causing chemical studied to date EPAs initial assessment of dioxins was published in 1985 Since that time there have been major advances in the scientific understanding of dioxin toxicity and significant new studies on dioxins potential adverse health effects As a result in 1991 EPA decided to conduct a reassessment of the health risks of exposure to dioxins A draft of this reassessment was reviewed by a scientific peer review panel in 1995 and three panels reviewed key segments of later drafts in 1997 and 2000 Environmental Health Risks United States.
