This extract focuses on the reasons for Lenin's New Economic Policy.

In March 1921 Lenin announced the end of War Communism and the inauguration of a New Economic Policy. The NEP was based on the following:

Requisitions from peasants were ended and a fixed tax in kind (grain) was substituted – which by 1924 had become a money tax. Once this tax was paid, the peasant was free to do what he liked with what remained. He could use it himself, sell it to the state or sell it on the open market which was now made legal. Private enterprise was allowed in trade and small-scale industry. Compulsory labour ceased; labour armies were stopped; bonuses were introduced for extra work. The currency was back on a sound footing and a regular system of taxation was introduced. Large-scale industry (coal, iron, steel, oil, electricity, railways) remained state-owned.

1.3 Refer to Source C.

1.3.1 Explain in your own words how Lenin's New Economic Policy was implemented.

(3)

The New Economic Policy was a drastic adaptation to the war communist policy, which allowed for a free market, private trade and enterprise. Private trade was no longer illegal, or government centralised. People paid a portion of their goods or income in the form of tax and were permitted to sell the rest on the open market. This stimulated the economy and encouraged economic growth.

1.3.2 In what ways was the New Economic Policy different to Lenin's ideal of a communist state? Support your answer with evidence from the source.

A communist state is one in which all individuals are equal. Under the NEP certain individuals profited more than others, which is a distinctly capitalist feature. This automatically created a sense of inequality and reduced the government's power and influence.

1.3.3 What was Lenin's intention for the state in creating the New Economic Policy?

It was Lenin's intention to recover the economy and to suppress peasant unrest, while still providing for the needs of the government.

Cultural History of Civil Examinations in Late Imperial China Benjamin A. Elman,2000-03-22 In this multidimensional analysis Benjamin A Elman uses over a thousand newly available examination records from the Yuan Ming and Ch'ing dynasties 1315 1904 to explore the social political and cultural dimensions of the civil examination system one of the most important institutions in Chinese history For over five hundred years the most important positions within the dynastic government were usually filled through these difficult examinations and every other year some one to two million people from all levels of society attempted them Covering the late imperial system from its inception to its demise Elman revises our previous understanding of how the system actually worked including its political and cultural machinery the unforeseen consequences when it was unceremoniously scrapped by modernist reformers and its long term historical legacy He argues that the Ming Ch ing civil examinations from 1370 to 1904 represented a substantial break with T ang Sung dynasty literary examinations from 650 to 1250 Late imperial examinations also made Tao Learning Neo Confucian learning the dynastic orthodoxy in official life and in literati culture The intersections between elite social life popular culture and religion that are also considered reveal the full scope of the examination process throughout the late empire United States of America Congressional Record, Proceedings and Debates of the 113th Congress Second Session Volume 160 - Part 2 , Knowing and Writing History Luciana Carvalho De Oliveira,2006 Liminal Spaces of Writing in Adolescent and Adult Education Jin Kyeong Jung,Mellinee Lesley,Rene Saldana,Julie Smit,2022-03-03 Liminal Spaces of Writing in Adolescent and Adult Education addresses the persistent gap in writing reform at the middle secondary and post secondary level Through an examination of useful and liminal writing the book explores the intellectual and creative space where structured expectations verge with individual imagination in writing The premise of the book is built around a multiplicity of ways to invite adolescent and adult students to enter into states of liminality where they are encouraged to experiment with style form genre and voice Through research featuring the perspectives of adolescents classroom teachers teacher educators graduate students and literacy researchers the book offers numerous insights into fostering a liminal and useful approach to writing instruction Each author takes the reader through a journey of finding the liminal as teachers writers and researchers Taken together this tapestry of perspectives puts forth the argument that liminal moments are necessary caveats to explore in order to cultivate fully actualized writing where students are in control of structures and traditional writing expectations but also free to imagine new ways of breaking with conventions and being as writers Thus the book argues liminal writing is critical in bringing about sustained writing reform
