Collective Bargaining for Police and Other Essential Services Giuseppe Carabetta, 2024-10-14. This book examines how collective bargaining disputes are resolved among police and essential service employees in Australia, as in other common law countries. Police and other highly essential employees, such as fire fighters and ambulance officers, have long had access to a form of binding arbitration to settle collective bargaining disputes. The traditional arbitration-based system in Australia has, however, been replaced in recent decades with a marked-based collective bargaining system. The current Fair Work system restricts access to arbitration, favouring collective bargaining based on the parties' prerogative to make their own agreements and supported by a limited right to industrial action, including strikes during bargaining. Yet police officers, particularly, are subject to considerable restraints on any entitlement to participate in industrial action. The problem is that with limited access to arbitration and an especially limited right to industrial action, intractable disputes may continue indefinitely without any impasse-breaking process to prevent the flow on harms of long-running police disputes. This raises the essential question underpinning this study: what form of dispute resolution system is appropriate to protect both the legitimate industrial interests of police officers and the community's interest in the uninterrupted provision of essential policing services? The author, in his extensive field work, research, and his study of international case studies, has developed a useful model for mandatory interest arbitration among police and other essential services personnel. The lessons and recommendations in the book offer insights for essential services labour law in Australia and overseas.

The Essential Guide to the Best (and Worst) Legal Sites on the Web Robert J. Ambrogi, 2004. This comprehensive resource helps lawyers and non-lawyers know which legal web sites are worth their time, which aren't, and why. Organized into more than 30 specific areas of legal expertise, it includes information about web sites on administrative law, bankruptcy, consumer protection, estate planning, immigration, intellectual property, Internet law, job listings, legal news, public records, and real estate. Each site is reviewed and assigned a rating of up to five stars, creating an invaluable research tool for lawyers, law librarians, paralegals, and anyone interested in legal resources on the web.
