Vehicle Dynamics Estimation using Kalman Filtering Moustapha Doumiati, Ali Charara, Alessandro Victorino, Daniel Lechner, 2012-12-14 Vehicle dynamics and stability have been of considerable interest for a number of years The obvious dilemma is that people naturally desire to drive faster and faster yet expect their vehicles to be infinitely stable and safe during all normal and emergency maneuvers For the most part people pay little attention to the limited handling potential of their vehicles until some unusual behavior is observed that often results in accidents and even fatalities This book presents several model based estimation methods which involve information from current potential integrable sensors Improving vehicle control and stabilization is possible when vehicle dynamic variables are known The fundamental problem is that some essential variables related to tire road friction are difficult to measure because of technical and economical reasons Therefore these data must be estimated It is against this background that this book's objective is to develop estimators in order to estimate the vehicle's load transfer the sideslip angle and the vertical and lateral tire road forces using a roll model The proposed estimation processes are based on the state observer Kalman filtering theory and the dynamic response of a vehicle instrumented with standard sensors These estimators are able to work in real time in normal and critical driving situations Performances are tested using an experimental car in real driving situations This is exactly the focus of this book providing students technicians and engineers from the automobile field with a theoretical basis and some practical algorithms useful for estimating vehicle dynamics in real time during vehicle motion

Traffic Data Collection and its Standardization Jaume Barceló, Masao Kuwahara, 2010-07-20 A nice night of October 2007 in Beijing during the XV World Conference on ITS a number of colleagues met informally for a dinner party that spontaneously became a vivid discussion on the importance of traffic data for all types of purposes Researchers can hardly do any progress in modeling developing and testing theories without suitable data and what practitioners can do in real life is limited not only by technology but also by the availability of the required data Quite frequently the data and not the technologies are what determine how far we can go Any discussion about traffic data leads in a natural way to a discussion on the variety of traffic data sources formats levels of aggregation accuracies and so on Consequently we moved to talk on the initiative that Kuwahara had undertaken in his traffic laboratory at the University of

Tokyo known as the International Traffic Data Base and thus smoothly but inexorably we came to agree that it would be convenient to organize a workshop to continue our discussion at a more formal level share our points of view with other colleagues listen what they had to say and if possible disseminate the findings in our professional and academic communities
