British Dream Factory Dominic Sandbrook,2015-10-01 SPECTATOR BOOKS OF THE YEAR 2015 Britain s empire has gone Our manufacturing base is a shadow of its former self the Royal Navy has been reduced to a skeleton In military diplomatic and economic terms we no longer matter as we once did And yet there is still one area in which we can legitimately claim superpower status our popular culture It is extraordinary to think that one British writer J K Rowling has sold more than 400 million books that Doctor Who is watched in almost every developed country in the world that James Bond has been the central character in the longest running film series in history that The Lord of the Rings is the second best selling novel ever written behind only A Tale of Two Cities that the Beatles are still the best selling musical group of all time and that only Shakespeare and the Bible have sold more books than Agatha Christie To put it simply no country on earth relative to its size has contributed more to the modern imagination This is a book about the success and the meaning of Britain s modern popular culture from Bond and the Beatles to heavy metal and Coronation Street from the Angry Young Men to Harry Potter from Damien Hirst to The X Factor      Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1978      Post-War British Women Novelists and the Canon Nick Turner,2011-11-03 With the increasing number of books on contemporary fiction there is a need for a work that examines whom we value and why These questions lie at the heart of this book which by focusing on four novelists literary and popular interrogates the canon over the last fifty years The argument unfolds to demonstrate that academic trends increasingly control canonicity as do the demands of genre the increasing commercialisation of literature and the power of the literary prize Turner argues that literary excellence demonstrated by style and imaginative power is often missing in many works that have become modern classics and makes a case for the value of the universal in literature Written in a jargon free style with reference to many supporting writers the book raises a number of significant cultural questions about the arts fashions and literary reputations of interest to readers in contemporary literary studies      British Working Class women authors (born before 1962) a list Stefan Szczelkun ,2025-06-07 A collection of Wikipedia articles edited reformatted and with additions In chronological order References and sections on non literary activity are sometimes omitted hopefully not to the point of misrepresenting the author which might include feminist or political activism To my surprise the biographical material on Wikipedia was sometimes mesmerising although it was uneven Where there were gaps I have tried to fill them from other sources Refer back to the wikipedia articles for more context and references in some cases and if you have a verified source of information please update the Wikipedia article Wikipedia is published under a creative commons licence So this compilation also carries a creative commons licence Introduction Looking through Sarah Richardson s Writing on the Line 1996 I was struck by how many of the working class women writers were from North America and how many more were poets Howard Slater had made a list of British working class male novelists and I selected British woman writers from Writing on the Line and found that most of them now have Wikipedia pages I first made a list of links Wanting to take this further I first looked to focus on novels and short story writers but this category started to break up as many writers wrote in many idioms producing fact fiction poetry plays screenwriting and journalism I decided on an arbitrary cut off point of writers born before 1962 When I first made the list I was thinking how few working class women novelists had been published in this period But then the lists of books by each author started to stack up and there s plenty to read and much that I missed even really hearing about Of course it focuses on the most successful others who produced a community published autobiography or self published novel did not get a Wikipedia page and they should really be included every life counts Others only published an autobiography perhaps in the last years of life but were extraordinary writers and people We could also discuss the genre snobbery in literary circles that puts crime young peoples literature romantic and fantasy fiction and perhaps historical based narratives in a lower category than the novel
