Welcome aboard a genre-bending ride that combines an ambitious exploration of the science of the senses with a deep dive into the comic book and live-action pursuits of the Marvel superhero Daredevil. What could possibly allow someone to hear heartbeats? Is there something it is like to radar sense? Is it true that your remaining senses are enhanced if you lose one of them? And how is it that any of us can sense anything in the first place? Organic Matter in Space (IAU S251) International Astronomical Union, Symposium, 2008. Our knowledge of the origin, evolution, nature, and distribution of organic matter in space has undergone a revolution in recent years. Insights into various aspects of this material can be found using a variety of different technical approaches. These range from telescopic measurements by observational astronomers over a wide range of wavelengths to laboratory experiments and simulations by chemists, physicists, and spectroscopists and analyses of actual extraterrestrial materials. IAU Symposium 251 brought together expertise of scientists from different disciplines, including observational astronomers, laboratory spectroscopists, and solar system scientists, to provide a synthesis of our current understanding of these organics and to identify areas in which additional work and new ideas are required to further our understanding. Leo Geo and the Cosmic Crisis Jon
