Learning From Text Across Conceptual Domains

Cynthia R. Hynd, 2013-12-16 This volume is an attempt to synthesize the understandings we have about reading to learn Although learning at all ages is discussed in this volume the main focus is on middle and high school classrooms critical spaces of learning and thinking The amount of knowledge presented in written form is increasing and the information we get from texts is often conflicting We are in a knowledge explosion that leaves us reeling and may effectively disenfranchise those who are not keeping up There has never been a more crucial time for students to understand learn from and think critically about the information in various forms of text Thus understanding what it means to learn is vital for all educators Learning from text is a complex matter that includes student factors social ethnic and cultural differences as well as varying motivations self perceptions goals and needs instructional and teacher factors and disciplinary and social factors One important goal of the book is to encourage practicing teachers to learn to consider their students in new ways to see them as being influenced by and as influencing not just the classroom but the total fabric of the disciplines they are learning Equally important it is intended to foster further research efforts from local studies of classrooms by teachers to large scale studies that produce generalizable understandings about learning from text This volume a result of the editor s and contributors work with the National Reading Research Center will be of interest to all researchers graduate students practicing teachers and teachers in training who are interested in understanding the issues that are central to improving students learning from text

Connecting Theory and Practice in Middle School Literacy Jason DeHart, Carla K. Meyer, Katie

Walker, 2021-12-27 Bringing together the voices of researchers and teachers this volume addresses how teachers connect theory to practice in the middle school English Language Arts education setting and explores how to teach and engage with young adults in a way that treats them as ethical and thoughtful citizens The book bridges the gap between educational theory and real world implementation and covers a range of timely topics in middle level education through a focus on text choice identity and practice Contributors acknowledge and balance the challenges associated with the reality of teaching including time constraints sudden shifts and fast paced work with real world guidance on key topics such as supporting multilingual students queering middle grade pedagogies teaching diverse texts examining racial bias in the classroom and critical digital literacy Ideal for courses on middle level education and literacy education this book encourages and equips pre service teachers to engage in meaningful conversations with their students that foster reflection and transformative learning

Talking Texts Rosalind Horowitz, 2017-09-25 This volume examines how oral and written language function in school learning and how oral texts can be successfully inter connected to the written texts that are used on a daily basis in schools Rather than argue for the prominence of one over the other the goal is to help the reader gain a rich understanding of how both might work together to create a new discourse that ultimately creates new knowledge Talking Texts Provides historical background for the study of talk and text Presents examples of children s and adolescents natural conversations as analyzed by linguists Addresses talk as it interfaces with domains of knowledge taught in schools to show how talk is related to and may be influenced by the structure language and activities of a specific discipline Bringing together seminal lines of research to create a cohesive picture of discourse issues germane to classrooms and other learning settings this volume is an essential resource for researchers graduate students classroom teachers and curriculum specialists across the fields of discourse studies literacy and English education composition studies language development sociolinguistics and applied linguistics
