Rosenberg,2005-04-14 While we have known for centuries that facial expressions can reveal what people are thinking and feeling it is only recently that the face has been studied scientifically for what it can tell us about internal states social behavior and psychopathology Today s widely available sophisticated measuring systems have allowed us to conduct a wealth of new research on facial behavior that has contributed enormously to our understanding of the relationship between facial expression and human psychology The chapters in this volume present the state of the art in this research They address key topics and questions such as the dynamic and morphological differences between voluntary and involuntary expressions the relationship between what people show on their faces and what they say they feel whether it is possible to use facial behavior to draw distinctions among psychiatric populations and how far research on automating facial measurement has progressed The book also includes follow up commentary on all of the original research presented and a concluding integration and critique of all the contributions made by Paul Ekman As an essential reference for all those working in the area of facial analysis and expression this volume will be indispensable for a wide range of professionals and students in the fields of psychology psychiatry and behavioral medicine Facial Action Coding System--Manual of Scientific Codification of the Human Face A. Affective Computing
Jimmy Or, 2008-05-01. This book provides an overview of state-of-the-art research in Affective Computing. It presents new ideas, original results, and practical experiences in this increasingly important research field. The book consists of 23 chapters categorized into four sections. Since one of the most important means of human communication is facial expression, the first section of this book (Chapters 1 to 7) presents a research on synthesis and recognition of facial expressions. Given that we not only use the face but also body movements to express ourselves, the second section (Chapters 8 to 11) presents a research on perception and generation of emotional expressions by using full body motions. The third section of the book (Chapters 12 to 16) presents computational models on emotion as well as findings from neuroscience research. In the last section of the book (Chapters 17 to 22), we present applications related to affective computing.
