The History and Practice of Ancient Astronomy James Evans, 1998-10-01 The History and Practice of Ancient

Astronomy combines new scholarship with hands on science to bring readers into direct contact with the work of ancient astronomers While tracing ideas from ancient Babylon to sixteenth century Europe the book places its greatest emphasis on the Greek period when astronomers developed the geometric and philosophical ideas that have determined the subsequent character of Western astronomy The author approaches this history through the concrete details of ancient astronomical practice Carefully organized and generously illustrated the book can teach readers how to do real astronomy using the methods of ancient astronomers For example readers will learn to predict the next retrograde motion of Jupiter using either the arithmetical methods of the Babylonians or the geometric methods of Ptolemy They will learn how to use an astrolabe and how to design sundials using Greek and Roman techniques The book also contains supplementary exercises and patterns for making some working astronomical instruments including an astrolabe and an equatorium More than a presentation of astronomical methods the book provides a critical look at the evidence used to reconstruct ancient astronomy It includes extensive excerpts from ancient texts meticulous documentation and lively discussions of the role of astronomy in the various cultures Accessible to a wide audience this book will appeal to anyone interested in how our understanding of our place in the universe has changed and developed from ancient times through the Renaissance Recycling and Reuse in the Roman Economy Chloë N. Duckworth, Andrew Wilson, 2020-09-10 The recycling and reuse of materials and objects were extensive in the past but have rarely been embedded into models of the economy even more rarely has any attempt been made to address the scale of these practices Recent developments including the use of large datasets computational modelling and high resolution analytical chemistry are increasingly offering the means to reconstruct recycling and reuse and even to approach the thorny issue of quantification This volume is the first to bring together these new approaches and the first to present a consideration of recycling and reuse in the Roman economy taking into account a range of materials and using a variety of methodological approaches It presents integrated cross referential evidence for the recycling and reuse of textiles papyrus statuary and building materials amphorae metals and glass and examines significant questions about organization value and the social meaning of recycling Get Outside Jane Drake, Ann Love, 2012-03 This outdoor activity book is packed with simple and entertaining ways for kids to interact year round with the fun and wondrous world outside Illustrations

Exploring Relational Professionalism in Schools Anneli Frelin, 2013-06-13 How is it that some teachers have just got it

They walk into a room and the atmosphere changes They get through to students in a way that no one else can The author has sought answers to this question by observing and interviewing teachers from preschool to upper secondary school levels Having intensively studied the highly influential but underestimated relational dimension of teaching her contention is that these teachers successfully use relational practices to build educational relationships with their students and educational communities among them Moreover she finds that what may come across as a teacher's personal traits is actually a sensible professional approach These teachers haven't got it they get it This book explains how teachers carry out their relational practices and contains an abundance of everyday examples from all stages of education The deep theoretical reasoning departs from these examples to create a compelling argument for a teacher's relational professionalism that is possible to learn and teach New relational perspectives and concepts are introduced for the purpose of facilitating professional conversations about the profound dimension of relationships in education Scientific American, 1909 Business, 1891
