

Analysis of Food Dyes in Beverages

Concepts:

Spectroscopy, Beer's law, chemical analysis, analyte concentration determination

Use the following recommendations to increase and/or decrease the challenge difficulty for your students.

Short-on-time Inquiry Lab:

In this laboratory, students will use spectrophotometry and graphical analysis to determine the concentration of a dye in a sports drink. Students will prepare a series of standard dilutions of an FD&C dye stock solution and will measure the absorbance of each. The results will be analyzed graphically to obtain a Beer's law calibration curve of absorbance versus concentration. Using this calibration, students will determine the concentration of dye in a beverage sample.

Guided Inquiry Lab:

In this laboratory, students will use spectrophotometry and graphical analysis to determine the concentration of a dye in a sports drink. Students will prepare a series of standard dilutions of an FD&C dye stock solution and will measure the percent transmittance of each. They will analyze the results graphically to obtain a Beer's law calibration curve of absorbance versus concentration. Using this calibration, students will determine the concentration of dye in a beverage sample.

Open Inquiry Lab:

In this laboratory, students will use spectrophotometry and graphical analysis to determine the concentration of a dye in a sports drink. Students will measure the absorption spectrum of an FD&C dye to determine its wavelength of maximum absorption. Then, they will plan the preparation of a series of standard dilutions of an FD&C dye stock solution, and will measure the percent transmittance of each at this wavelength. They will analyze the results graphically to obtain a Beer's law calibration curve of absorbance versus concentration, which can be used to determine the concentration of dye in a beverage sample.

Advanced Inquiry Lab:

In this laboratory, students will use spectrophotometry and graphical analysis to determine the concentration of a dye in a sports drink. Students will measure the absorption spectrum of an FD&C dye to determine its wavelength of maximum absorption. Then, they will prepare a series of standard dilutions of an FD&C dye stock solution, and will measure the percent transmittance of each at this wavelength. They will analyze the results graphically to obtain a Beer's law calibration curve of absorbance versus concentration, which can be used to determine the concentration of dye in a beverage sample.

Outcomes:

Students will obtain a Beer's calibration curve plotting absorbance versus concentration of dye in standard solutions, along with the linear equation that describes this plot. They will use this equation (Beer's law relationship) to determine the concentration of dye in a sports drink sample.

In the advanced and open versions, students will measure the absorption spectrum of one of the FD&C dyes to determine its wavelength of maximum absorption, prior to preparing the Beer's calibration curve.

Conn's Biological Stains Richard Horobin, John Kiernan, 2020-08-13. Published on behalf of the Biological Stain Commission. For 75 years Conn's Biological Stains has been a standard reference for all those who used dyes and colorants in the biological and medical sciences. This long-awaited tenth edition appears 25 years after R. D. Lillie's ninth and has been completely rewritten to reflect the increase in range of uses. Although the staining of microscopical preparations continues to expand, the uses of dyes and fluorochromes now extend far beyond this traditional application. This book provides the first critical overview of the whole range of low molecular weight fluorescent probes outside the catalogue literature. The first ten chapters are essays by leading experts on the important aspects of colorants and their uses. Most of the remainder of the book consists of descriptions by Dr Horobin of the properties and recent applications of hundreds of individual compounds in about twenty chemical classes. The last chapter reviews the procedures employed at the Biological Stain Commission's laboratory to assay and test dyes and certify them as suitable for their intended applications.
