Tourism and Gentrification in Contemporary Metropolises Maria Gravari-Barbas, Sandra Guinand, 2017-06-14 Tourism gentrification is a critical shaping force of socio-economic and contemporary urban landscapes. This book aims to be the first substantive text on this subject explaining the multiple and complex relationships between tourism and gentrification and their outcomes and manifestations in contemporary metropolises. This is achieved by drawing on in-depth case analyses addressing the different issues at stake. Part I deals with the manifestations of tourism gentrification and the ways it affects urban landscapes through heritagization and urban regeneration strategies. Part II looks at the correlations between tourism gentrification and culture. Finally, the last two parts aim to identify and examine forms and expressions of tourism gentrification distinguishing among the actors beneficiaries and victims of the phenomenon while looking at its implications for intra-metropolitan territories and metropolitan governance. The book approaches these issues in an innovative way by looking at a variety of metropolises in a diverse range of countries and by dealing with the different relations and management issues generated by gentrification in relation to tourism. Through interdisciplinary approaches this groundbreaking text sheds light on the role tourism plays in contemporary metropolises furthering knowledge of urban tourism. For these reasons it will be of particular interest to scholars and students of tourism, urban studies, geography, anthropology and sociology.

The Web as History

Niels Brügger,Ralph Schroeder,2017-03-06 The World Wide Web has now been in use for more than 20 years From early browsers to today s principal source of information entertainment and much else the Web is an integral part of our daily lives to the extent that some people believe if it s not online it doesn t exist While this statement is not entirely true it is becoming increasingly accurate and reflects the Web s role as an indispensable treasure trove It is curious therefore that historians and social scientists have thus far made little use of the Web to investigate historical patterns of culture and society despite making good use of letters novels newspapers radio and television programmes and other pre digital artefacts This volume argues that now is the time to ask what we have learnt from the Web so far The 12 chapters explore this topic from a number of interdisciplinary angles through histories of national web spaces and case studies of different government and media domains as well as an introduction that provides an overview of this exciting new area of research

Where Is History

Today? Laura Mulvey,Frank Ankersmit,Daniel Pick,Tomáš Jirsa,Martin Elbel,Jiří Lach,2015-02-05 History no longer belongs only to historians but is woven into the fabric and discourse of daily life This fresh and wide ranging survey explores how new media and new historiographic approaches are dramatically expanding what we understand by history today Controversy about the aims and limits of historical analysis has raged ever since the rise of postmodern history in the 1970s But these debates have rarely affected the understanding of history in Central and Eastern Europe The volume confirms the crucial importance of audiovisual and mass media from film to television and radio to comics but does not exclude literary scholars and art historians who are also rethinking their methods taking note of their new consumers If history formerly appeared to be a one way transmission of expertise it is increasingly a dynamic engagement between researchers and audiences
