Thinking Like an Engineer Elizabeth A. Stephan, William J. Park, Benjamin L. Sill, David R. Bowman, Matthew W. Ohland, 2011 THINKING LIKE AN ENGINEER AN ACTIVE LEARNING APPROACH is specifically designed to utilize an active learning environment for first year engineering courses. In class activities include collaborative problem solving computer based activities and hands on experiments encouraging guided inquiry. Homework assignments and review sections reinforce and expand on the activities. Content can be customized to match the topic organization in your course syllabi. Innovation for Sustainable Development Jean-Yves Grosclaude, Rajendra K. Pachauri, Laurence Tubiana, 2014-02-20 Innovation has become the new buzzword across the globe. International organisations, governments, corporates, academia and society see it as the answer to the major economic, social and environmental transformations challenging the models of the 20th century. Innovations are occurring worldwide and alternative solutions to the existing problems are emerging in all sectors: electric cars, organic farming, renewable energy and e learning are good examples. These alternatives can be ascribed with qualities such as decentralized, frugal, flexible, smart and democratic virtues that are lacking in conventional models. They are attributed with the potential to meet the overall global challenges such as climate change and the growing inequalities between and within countries. What is the real potential of innovation? Does the rapid deployment of innovations lead towards a more sustainable and inclusive society? Can innovations and the emerging alternatives replace conventional models? Beyond technologies, what institutional innovations are required to support sustainable development? A Planet for Life 2014 aims to answer these questions and explore innovation in all its aspects through a series of texts written by international experts. The objective of this book is to analyse experiences from across the world and the role of innovation in a variety of areas of development such as urbanization, agriculture and food, the mobility of people and freight, education and the provision of water and energy to all. Designing Data Spaces Boris Otto, Michael ten Hompel, Stefan Wrobel, 2022-07-21 This open access book provides a comprehensive view on data ecosystems and platform economics from methodical and technological foundations up to reports from practical implementations and applications in various industries. To this end, the book is structured in four parts. Part I Foundations and Contexts provides a general overview about building, running and governing data spaces and an introduction to the IDS and GAIA X projects. Part II Data Space Technologies subsequently details various implementation aspects of IDS and GAIA X including eg data usage control, the usage of blockchain technologies or semantic data integration and interoperability. Next, Part III describes various Use Cases and Data Ecosystems from various application areas such as agriculture, healthcare, industry, energy and mobility. Part IV eventually offers an overview of several Solutions and Applications eg including products and experiences from companies like Google, SAP, Huawei, T Systems, Innogy and many more. Overall, the book provides professionals in industry with an encompassing overview of the technological and economic aspects of data spaces based on the International Data Spaces and Gaia X initiatives. It presents implementations

and business cases and gives an outlook to future developments In doing so it aims at proliferating the vision of a social data market economy based on data spaces which embrace trust and data sovereignty
