Helping Your Child Learn History Elaine Wrisley Reed,1993 The Teaching American History Project Rachel G. Ragland,Kelly A. Woestman,2010-05-26 This collection of essays and research reports from participants in The Teaching American History Project provides models for historians teachers teacher educators and others interested in the teaching and learning of American History and presents examples of lessons learned from a cross section of TAH projects The Complete Home Learning Sourcebook Rebecca Rupp,1998 Lists all the resources needed to create a balanced curriculum for homeschooling from preschool to high school level Helping Your Child Learn History ,1994 Makes history interesting to 4 11 year olds with lots of activities and fun things to do Learn History Michael Robert Robert,2015-01-06 Lack of historical memory is parallel to this loss of individual memory The link on which we depend every day between the past and present would be lost if we had no memory of our history And we would miss a great source of enjoyment that comes from piecing together the story of our past Read to learn more Lightbulb Moments in Human History (Book II) ,

Transforming the Canadian History Classroom Samantha Cutrara,2020-10-01 We are all our history Yet despite curricular revisions the mainstream historical narrative that shapes the way we teach students about the Canadian nation can be divisive separating us from them Responding to the evolving demographics of an ethnically and culturally heterogeneous population Transforming the Canadian History Classroom calls for an innovative approach that instead places students the stories they carry and the histories they want to be part of at the centre of history education Samantha Cutrara explores how teaching practices and institutional contexts can support ideas of connection complexity and care in order to engender meaningful learning and foster a student centric history education Applying insights gained from student and teacher interviews and case studies in schools Transforming the Canadian History Classroom delineates a learning environment in which students can investigate the historical narratives that infuse their lives and imagine a future that makes room for their diverse identities Teaching History in Primary Schools Pat Hoodless,2008-07-30 This book introduces trainees and newly qualified teachers to the teaching of history in primary schools and covers key concepts skills and knowledge for the history curriculum at Foundation Stage KS1 and KS2 Contents include planning teaching and learning strategies assessment reflection and evaluation as well as a range of practical ideas for classroom activities and cross curricular themes Each chapter is underpinned by national and international research also included are links to important themes such as citizenship out of school learning sustainability diversity and inclusive practice Throughout content is related to new initiatives such as Every Child Matters and Excellence and Enjoyment Teaching and Learning History Online Stephen K. Stein, Maureen MacLeod,2023-04-17 Teaching and Learning History Online A Guide for College Instructors offers everything a new online history instructor needs in one package including how to structure courses integrate multimedia and manage and grade discussions as well as advice for department chairs on curriculum management student advising and more

In today's technological society online courses are quickly becoming the new normal in terms of collegiate instruction providing the ideal environment to flip the classroom and encourage students to hone critical thinking skills by engaging deeply with historical sources. While much of the attention in online teaching focuses on STEM business and education courses online history courses have also proven consistently popular. However due to the COVID 19 pandemic new history instructors are rushed into online teaching with little or no training or experience creating a need for a guide to ease the transition from classroom to online course development and teaching. A timely text this book aims to provide both new and experienced college history teachers the information they need to develop dynamic online courses.

Identity, Trauma, Sensitive and Controversial Issues in the Teaching of History Hilary Cooper, Jon Nichol, 2015-10-13

History Education is a politically contested subject. It can be used to both promote xenophobia and to develop critical thinking multiple perspectives and tolerance. Accordingly this book critically examines complex issues and constructivist approaches that make history relevant to students understanding of the modern world. As such it has global appeal especially in North and South America Canada Europe and Asia. The book's authors address the major challenges that History Education faces in an era of globalisation digital revolution and international terror nationalism and sectarian and religious conflict and warfare. Central to this volume are controversial issues trauma and questions of personal and national identity from a wide range of international settings and perspectives. The research in this book was undertaken by leading history educators from every continent. Their interdisciplinary research represents an important contribution to the teaching of social sciences social psychology civic education programmes history and history education in schools colleges and universities. The book offers new approaches to history educators at all levels. In addition the chapters offer potential as required reading for students to both develop an international perspective and to compare and contrast their own situations with those that the book covers. Section I considers issues related to identity how can history education promote social coherence in multicultural societies in societies divided by sectarianism or countries adapting to regime changes whether Communist or Fascist including for example South Africa previously Communist countries of Eastern Europe and previous dictatorships in South America and Western Europe. It discusses such questions as How important is it that students learn the content of history through the processes of historical enquiry What should that content be and who should decide it educators or politicians What is the role of textbooks and who should write and select them Should history be taught as a discrete discipline or as part of a citizenship or social sciences curriculum. Sections II and III explore ways in which memory of sensitive issues related to the past to war or to massacres may be addressed. Are there new methodologies or approaches which make this possible How can students understand situations involving intolerance and injustice.
