How to Drive a Stick Shift: Full Tutorial for Controlling Your Car in Every Situation Jamison Drechsler, 2021-09-06 Some people call it learning how to drive stick or how to drive a manual. Whatever you call it, both are the same. Many drivers never learn how to drive a car with a manual transmission or stick shift. The ability to drive a stick shift will allow you to drive any type of vehicle regardless of if it is automatic or manual. You've heard that a driving stick gives you more control of your car in every situation from a passing maneuver to descending a snowy hill. You've heard driving a stick shift car is more economical at the gas pump. You've heard it's more fun. But you've also heard it's hard to learn. There are gearshifts to master, your engine can stall, your car can roll backward on a hill, and understanding the clutch is a nightmare. So what if I told you using a clutch is no more difficult than using a faucet or that your car's handbrake is a lot more than just a parking brake or that I can teach you in one sentence how to avoid ever stalling your engine. I've already taught thousands of people how to drive stick, men and women of all ages, normal people, not engineering students or race car engineers. And I can teach you.

Throughout the text, Huber focuses on how athletes learn, considering theories of motivation, behaviorism, cognition, and humanism, and the interplay between emotions and motor learning and performance. Each chapter opens with a coaching-related anecdote that readers can relate to in order to highlight the significance of the theory under consideration. After careful explanation of each theory, Huber details concrete examples, guidelines, and specific applications for coaching. In addition to summary information, each chapter concludes with Your Coaching Toolbox, which focuses readers on ways to incorporate their newly gained knowledge into their interactions with athletes. Applying Educational Psychology in Coaching Athletes is unmatched in its depth of insight into the teaching and learning process in sport and how to put it into
