The continental atlas of the distribution of tsetse flies in Africa Cecchi, G.; Paone, M.; de Gier, J.; Zhao, W., 2024-09-24 Tsetse flies Genus Glossina occur in sub Saharan Africa where they transmit trypanosomosis a group of parasitic diseases that affect both animals and humans Tsetse and trypanosomosis are a constant drain on the resources of poor African livestock keepers and they also impose a public health burden Comprehensive data on the geographic distribution of tsetse flies is crucial to design evidence based and cost effective strategies against animal trypanosomoses and it is also important in eliminating the human form of the disease Despite this the latest maps of tsetse distribution in Africa were published several decades ago The present publication provides an update on the geographical distribution of tsetse flies in Africa A total of 669 scientific publications spanning a period of 31 years 1990 2020 provided the input data and almost 7 400 distinct geographical locations were mapped Tsetse flies were recorded from a maximum latitude of 15 North in Senegal to a minimum of 28 5 South in South Africa Data coverage is uneven and no eligible publication was found for Burundi Guinea Bissau Liberia Sierra Leone or Somalia A dearth of information also affects a few other countries such as Angola the Congo the Democratic Republic of the Congo and South Sudan At the level of tsetse species relatively abundant data were identified for the species of major veterinary and public health importance especially of the riverine palpalis and savannah morsitans groups By contrast limited information is available on many species of the forest fusca group The continental atlas of tsetse flies in combination with the upcoming component on animal trypanosomosis can be used by policy makers practitioners and scientists engaged in the control and elimination of tsetse flies and trypanosomosis in Africa It also provides a blueprint for national authorities to develop country level information systems i e national atlases to assist planning and monitoring of control activities at the national and local levels

Osaka Mathematical Journal ,1951 The rising costs of nutritious foods: The case of Ethiopia Bachewe, Fantu Nisrane, Minten, Bart, 2019-08-27 Costs of healthy diets are worryingly rising in a number of developed and emerging economies However less is known on these costs for developing countries Using price data from a large number of markets in Ethiopia we find that real prices of all nutritionally rich food groups increased significantly between 19 and 62 percent over the period 2007 to 2016 This contrasts with 1 staple crops grains roots and tubers which did not show any price increase and 2 oils fats and sugar the prices of which decreased substantially Using detailed nationwide datasets and relying on time series methods we link these price increases to changes in local markets demand and supply factors transaction costs and international trade We find that prices of nutritionally rich food groups compared to cereals are relatively less affected by international trade and exchange rate changes but more so by rapidly increasing local and city demand This rising demand is likely due to recent income growth and rapid urbanization and the high income elasticities for nutritious foods in Ethiopia Moreover we find that local production changes affected prices of nutritious items little but national price rises were found to have been significantly linked with food price rises in commercial clusters in the country Changes in transaction costs fuel and transport costs explained relatively little of the observed food price changes

Eating Behavior and Chronic Diseases: Research Evidence from Population Studies Fei Xu,Li Zhao,Xiaoyue Xu,Zumin Shi,2024-07-29

Eating behavior is a major lifestyle related influencing factor of non communicable chronic diseases NCDs particularly overweight obesity and metabolism syndrome MetS Typically eating behavior refers not only to dietary patterns but also to nutrient intake From the public health perspective population based evidence regarding healthy eating is of significance for policy developments regarding NCDs prevention Eating behavior is time and economic status dependent which may change as age or and socio economic status changes This occurs not only in developing societies but also in economically settled communities Therefore although relationships between eating behaviors dietary pattern nutrients intake and specific NCDs have been examined in different societies further investigations of population level associations between eating behavior and NCDs in different subpopulations general community residents elders children or patients etc especially the interaction of eating behavior and other influences e g physical activity on NCDs remains of continuing importance Meanwhile updating the dietary patterns and nutrient intake levels of different subpopulations is also necessary

Accelerating progress in improving diets and nutrition in Ethiopia Baye, Kaleab,Hirvonen, Kalle,2020-06-11

Ethiopia has witnessed significant reductions in child mortality undernutrition and communicable diseases but more substantial and faster progress is still needed The rise in obesity and in noncommunicable diseases particularly in urban areas is alarming and requires urgent policy and programmatic attention Unhealthy diets drive both undernutrition and obesity and are the underlying cause of significant proportion of both communicable and non communicable diseases Maintaining the relatively high breastfeeding practices and increasing the diversity of diets will be critical to improving nutrition in Ethiopia Implementation of effective nutrition messaging that shapes consumer behavior to adopt healthy dietary patterns while bridging gaps in both the reach and the quality of such messaging is warranted The health extension program which is the cornerstone of the transformation of the health sector may need to be redesigned in a way that improves its reach and the quality of the services it provides and minimizes the risk of burnout of frontline health workers Interventions focusing on making healthy diets available affordable and accessible are urgently needed

Risk of foot-and-mouth disease SAT2 introduction and spread in countries in the Near East and West Eurasia McLaws, M., Ahmadi, B.V., Condoleo, R., Limon, G., Kamata, A., Arshed, M., Rozstalnyy, A., Rosso, F., Dhingra, M., 2023-10-30 Following the detection of foot and mouth disease serotype SAT2 FMD SAT2 in West Eurasia and the Near East in February 2023 a qualitative risk assessment was conducted Serotype SAT2 usually circulates only in Africa and so most animals in the region are fully susceptible to infection by this virus The likelihood of spread of the FMD SAT2 to unaffected countries via key risk pathways and the potential consequences of the FMD SAT2 incursion in the region were described and assessed Plausible pathways for the introduction of FMD SAT2 were identified for most countries Informal movements of live animals and common grazing are the pathways of greatest concern because direct live animal contact is a very effective mode of FMD transmission especially in the absence of sanitary measures The large increase of animal movements associated with festivals such as Eid al Adha as well as seasonal grazing movements increase the probability of FMD spread An incursion of FMD SAT2 would result in a substantial negative impact with the production losses and cost of control measures estimated at USD 3 6 6 5 billion depending on the extent of spread within the region Outbreaks of FMD also have a negative impact on food and nutrition security economy labour markets and the livelihoods of most vulnerable people To mitigate the risks of FMD SAT2 all countries should have an emergency response plan for FMD that is realistic for the country and supported with adequate resources for implementation A comprehensive list of preventive measures including strengthened biosecurity and vaccination is available in this document The Ethiopian Journal of Higher Education ,2007-06

Water and Society V S. Mambretti, J. L. Miralles i Garcia, 2019-12-06 Encompassing papers form the 2019 Water and Society Conference this book is a collection of latest trans disciplinary research on issues related to the nature of water and its use and exploitation by society This book demonstrates the need to bridge the gap between specialists in physical sciences biology environmental sciences and health Over the centuries civilisations have relied on the availability of clean and inexpensive water This can no longer be taken for granted as the need for water continues to increase due to the pressure from growing global population demanding higher living standards Agriculture and industry major users of water are at the same time those that contribute to its contamination Water distribution networks in urban areas as well as soiled water collection systems present serious problems in response to a growing population as well as the need to maintain ageing infrastructures Many technologically feasible solutions such as desalination or pumping systems are energy demanding but as costs rise the techniques currently developed may need to be re assessed The research contained in this book addresses the interaction between water and energy systems The socio political implications of a world short of clean easily available water are enormous It will lead to realignments in international politics and the emergence of new centres of power in the world The following list covers some of the subjects included in this book Water resources management Agribusiness Water as a human right Water quality Water resources contamination Sanitation and health Water and disaster management Policy and legislation Future water demands Irrigation and water management Management of catchments Groundwater management and conservation      Transforming Healthcare Infrastructure David S-K.

Ting, Jacqueline A. A. M. Elnour, 2025-02-10 This book delves into the intersection of gum arabic a natural product derived from Acacia gums AGs including Acacia senegal Acacia seyal and Acacia polyacantha gum and breast cancer BC biology from a biotechnology perspective It explores the history extraction characterization and biological applications of secondary metabolites SMs extracted from AGs The chapters cover topics such as the physicochemical properties of AGs advanced extraction methods for secondary metabolites and their diverse biological applications including antimicrobial anti inflammatory and anticancer properties The book also examines state of the art breast cancer research its impact on sustainable development goals and the potential applications of AG s secondary metabolites in BC cell lines Additionally it discusses the opportunity to transfer cancer on a chip technology to Islamic Development Bank member countries IsDB MCs and explores the application of breast on a chip technology using AGs secondary metabolites SME This comprehensive book combines the fields of biotechnology breast cancer biology and natural product research offering a unique perspective on the potential role of gum Arabic or AGs secondary metabolites in breast cancer research and treatment Researchers in the fields of biotechnology oncology and natural product chemistry find this book invaluable Whether you are exploring new frontiers in cancer treatment or a practitioner seeking novel therapeutic approaches this book provides critical insights into innovative strategies for combating breast cancer Additionally it serves as an essential resource for policymakers interested in integrating development goals with healthcare advancements      The rising costs of nutritious foods in Ethiopia Yimer, Feiruz, Minten, Bart, Hirvonen,

Kalle, Bachewe, Fantu Nisrane, 2017-06-09 Given the high prevalence of undernutrition among children in low income countries and the associated high human and economic costs Hoddinott et al 2013 improving nutritional outcomes must be an urgent priority Improving nutrition is high on the policy agenda of the government of Ethiopia as stated in the Growth and Transformation Plan II which aims to reduce young child stunting levels from 40 percent in 2014 to 26 percent in 2019 2020 Lack of access to diverse diets is one of the underlying factors contributing to chronic undernutrition Arimond and Ruel 2004 UNICEF 1998 Despite recent improvements child stunting in Ethiopia remains widespread CSA and ICF International 2017 Moreover Ethiopian children consume one of the least diverse diets in sub Saharan Africa Hirvonen 2016 At the household level food consumption baskets are dominated by cereals and pulses while the consumption of animal source foods and fruits and Vitamin A rich vegetables is rare especially in rural areas 1 Such monotonous diets are regarded as a major contributor to non communicable diseases in Ethiopia Melaku et al 2016 Recent research suggests that the poor dietary diversity in rural areas can be explained at least partly both by limited knowledge about the health benefits of diverse diets and by poor access to food markets Households in areas in which food crop production is not very diverse but which have good access to markets are found to have more diverse diets than do households in such areas but which have poor access to markets and so depend primarily on own production for the food they consume 2 Yet even with sufficient access to markets and knowledge on the benefits of diverse diets poor households may simply be unable to afford nutritionally rich foods Warren and Frongillo 2017 Indeed prices and affordability of nutritious foods remains a neglected area of research in efforts to understand poor dietary diversity in Ethiopia and elsewhere 3 In the analysis described here we explore how prices and consequently the affordability of nutritious food have changed over the last decade in Ethiopia

Peace Not War:

Traditions of Restorative Justice in Imperial Ethiopia, 1769 - 1960 Charles Schaefer, 2025-05-27 Examines one of the few documented early examples of restorative justice from Africa or Latin America With a writing system Ethiopian emperors as well as pretenders to the throne chronicled their exploits including peace building feats and this book showcases and analyses historically verified instances from as early as 1769 where restorative justice modalities were used to resolve conflict and bring peace to the country Peace not War traces Ethiopia's evolving understanding of restorative justice from the forgive and forget approach which characterized the Zemene Mesafint Era of the Princes where perpetrators were exonerated allowing them to recoup and build their armies to fight another day to conditional forgiveness recorded by the imperial court and dependent on atonement Ethiopia's long history of experimentation with different forms of restorative justice demonstrates ingenuity flexibility and adaptability but as the twentieth century progressed workable indigenous forms of restorative justice were sidelined by Western codified law that emphasized retribution

Moral Pedagogies for Africa

Theodros A. Teklu, 2021-09-02 This volume engages with issues of moral responsibility and multiethnic co existence in the context of contemporary Africa Post colonial African states are by and large ethnically diverse Constructively managing ethnic diversity however has always been a challenge to these states which often fail to be democratic and all inclusive As a result ethnic enmity and conflicts that obliterate bonds of togetherness between ethnic communities have been rampant throughout the continent In dialogue with Africa s cultural and religious assets this interdisciplinary multi authored book aims at articulating the need to interpret past and present ethnic hostilities in Africa and generating moral resources of togetherness to foster a social pedagogy of responsible cohabitation for Africans The chapters of this volume categorized into two parts are framed according to these two niches Journal of Ethiopian Studies ,2003 Ethiopian Medical Journal ,2008 Ethiopian Journal of Education ,2014 World report on the health of refugees and migrants ,2022-07-20

Worldwide more people are on the move now than ever before yet many refugees and migrants face poorer health outcomes than the host populations Addressing their health needs is therefore a global health priority and integral to the principle of the right to health for all The key is to strengthen and maintain health systems by ensuring that they are refugee and migrant sensitive and inclusive Health outcomes are influenced by a whole host of determinants However refugees and migrants face additional determinants such as precarious legal status discrimination social cultural linguistic administrative and financial barriers lack of information about health entitlements low health literacy and fear of detention and deportation This groundbreaking publication outlines current and future opportunities and challenges and provides several strategies to improve the health and well being of refugees and migrants It is an advocacy tool for national and international policy makers involved in health and migration Evidence on the health of refugees and migrants remains fragmented comparable data across countries and over time are urgently needed to track progress towards the health related United Nations Sustainable Development Goals With only 8 years until the 2030 target date to transform our world the time to act is now
