Forensic Economics Frank D. Tinari, 2016-12-01 This edited collection addresses the major issues encountered in the calculation of economic damages to individuals in civil litigation In federal and state courts in the United States as well as in other nations when one party sues another the suing party is required not only to prove that the harm was indeed caused by the other party but also to claim and demonstrate that a specified dollar value represents just compensation for the harm Forensic economists are often called upon to evaluate measure and opine on the degree of economic loss that is alleged to have occurred Aimed at both practitioners and theorists the original articles and essays in the edited collection are written by nationally recognized and widely published forensic experts Its strength is in showcasing theories methods and measurements as they differ in a variety of cases and in its review of the forensic economics literature developed over the past thirty years Readers will find informative discussions of topics such as establishing earnings capacity for both adults and infants worklife probability personal consumption deductions taxation as treated in federal and state courts valuing fringe benefits discounting theory and practice the effects of the Affordable Care Act the valuation of personal services wrongful discharge hedonics effective communication by the expert witness and ethical issues The volume also covers surveys of the views of practicing forensic economists the connection between law and forensic economics alternatives to litigation in the form of VCF like schedules and key differences among nations in measuring economic damages Ginsberg and Martin on Bankruptcy Ginsberg, Martin, Kelley, Small Business and the Aluminum Industry United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Small Business,1956 Transnational Aging Vincent Horn,Cornelia Schweppe,2015-09-16 This book focuses on the diverse interrelationships between aging and transnationality It argues that the lives of older people are increasingly entangled in transnational contexts on the social as well as the cultural economic and political levels Within these contexts older people both actively contribute to and are affected by border crossing processes In addition while some may voluntarily opt for adding a transnational dimension to their lives others may have less choice in the matter Transnational aging therefore provides a critical lens on how older people shape organize and cope with life in contexts that are no longer bound to the frame of a single nation state Accordingly the book emphasizes the agency of older people as well as the personal and structural constraints of their situations The chapters in this book reveal these aspects by approaching transnational aging from different methodological angles such as ethnographic research comparative studies quantitative data and policy and discourse analysis Geographically the chapters cover a wide range of countries in Africa Asia Europe North and South America such as Namibia Thailand Russia Germany the United States and Ecuador Capitalism and the Environment Shi-Ling Hsu,2021-12-09 Humankind must harness capitalism not quash it if it wants to save itself from ecological catastrophe Recent Research in Management, Accounting and Economics (RRMAE) Hafinaz,Hariharan R.,R.
