reputation or consciously developed competitive identity or brand The Political Economy of City Branding discusses this phenomenon from the perspective of numerous post industrial cities in North America Europe East Asia and Australasia Special attention is given to local economic development policy and industrial profiling and global city rankings are used to provide empirical evidence for cities characteristics and positions in the global urban hierarchy On top of this social and urban challenges such as creative class struggle are also discussed The core message of the book is that cities should apply the tools of city branding in their industrial promotion and specialization but at the same time take into account the special nature of their urban communities and be open and inclusive in their brand policies in order to ensure optimal results This book will be of interest to scholars and practitioners working in the areas of local economic development urban planning public management and branding The World-Literary System and the Atlantic Sorcha Gunne, Neil Lazarus, 2020-12-30

The World Literary System and the Atlantic grapples with key questions about how American studies and the Atlantic region in general engages with new considerations of literary comparativism international literary space and the world literary system The edited collection furthers these discussions by placing them into a relationship with the theory of combined and uneven development a theory that has a long pedigree in Marxist sociology and political economy and that continues to stimulate debate across the social sciences but whose implications for culture have received less attention Drawing on the comparative modes concepts and methods being developed in the new world literary studies the essays cover a diverse range of topics such as the periodization of world literature racism and the world system singular modernity critical irrationalism commodity frontiers semi peripherality and world ecology The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal Atlantic Studies Political, Economic and Financial Country Risk Mohamed A. Ramady, 2013-10-19 Decades go by and nothing happens then weeks go by and decades happen This apt saying encapsulates the dramatic convulsions taking place across the Arab world that first erupted in 2011 in Tunisia and which rapidly spread to other countries These events have affected the lives of ordinary citizens in many more ways than had been intended when the Arab Spring broke out with the endgame still not very clear as demonstrated in countries like Egypt Syria and Libya By comparison with some exceptions the six countries comprising the Gulf Cooperation Council have been relatively unaffected by the general turbulence and uncertainties lapping around them However geopolitical shifts involving global superpower rivalries combined with revolutionary breakthroughs in the non conventional hydrocarbon energy sector are threatening to challenge the importance of the Arabian Gulf as the world's leading suppliers of energy putting their economies under fiscal stress The author examines such challenges by Providing the first in depth statistical analytical assessment of the GCC countries using monthly data over the period 2001-2013 for the three risk categories economic financial and political risks and their sub components so as to enable policymakers enhance components with low risk while addressing components with perceived higher risk Assessing FDI and capital inflows and outflows before and after the Arab Spring and how to encourage FDI inflows Inter

Arab and GCC trade and synergies in power transmission transportation links and establishing new hubs of centers of manufacturing excellence Exploring private sector led growth models to reduce forecasted unemployment Being complacent is not an option for the GCC The aim of the book is that having a better understanding of each of the GCC countries individual risk parameters will enable the GCC meet future challenges and reduce the chances of a negative Arab Spring occurring in the region Mohamed Ramady is a Visiting Associate Professor at the Department of Finance and Economics King Fahd University of Petroleum and Minerals His main research interests are the economics of the Middle East and Saudi Arabia in particular as well as money and banking He also held senior positions with international financial institutions in the Arabian Gulf and Europe

Economic Development and Political Action in the Arab World M.A. Mohamed Salih, 2014-03-05 Analysis of North African revolt against authoritarianism known as the Arab Spring embraced reductionist explanations such as the social media youth unemployment and citizens agitations to regain dignity in societies humiliated by oppressive regimes This book illustrates that reductionist approaches can only elucidate some symptoms of a social problem while leaving unexplained the economic and political structures which contributed to it One outcome of quiescence resource based ethnic and sectarian conflicts and faulty development paradigm is deepened inequality and a wedge between winners and losers or affluence wealth and power vis vis poverty and hunger among humiliated jobless and hope less masses The book blends theories of development and transition to explain the complex factors which contributed to North Africans revolt against authoritarianism and its long term consequences for political development in the Arab World This timely book is of great interest to researchers and students in Development Studies Economics and Middle Eastern Studies as well as policy makers and democracy human rights and social justice activists in the Arab world
