No wonder all over the world there are different medical systems coming down through the ages with natural remedies using herbs which grow native. But thanks to the permeation of knowledge all over the world in the 21st century it is very easy for us to get access to these broad and vast fields of knowledge as long as we know how to use them in proper quantities and in a systematic and methodical manner. This book is going to give you some information about natural healing antiseptics which not only help to prevent ailments but also cured them permanently down the ages. All these recipes are time-tested. At that time man did not have recourse to poisonous toxins which were manufactured in labs with chemicals and marketed extensively under the name of allopathic drugs. But in ancient times and in medieval times the wise woman of the village or of the house who was well-versed in medical lore knew all about how to take care of common ailments and heal them. Naturally she was following her knowledge based on lore passed down from the ages as well as some knowledge through her own experience and experimentation using herbs from the local surroundings and adapting them to her own use. In China ginseng was used extensively to heal. In India one used turmeric but the rest of the world knew all about the curative properties of ginger, onions, and garlic. You also had your own herbal garden with chamomile, sage, parsley, rosemary, thyme, marjoram which you used for curing as well as for culinary purposes. The Best Craft Cocktails & Bartending with Flair Jeremy LeBlanc, Christine Dionesse, 2013-11-12 Hand-Crafted Delicious Cocktail Recipes From One of the Best Bartenders in the World.
