Routines of Substitution Mark Priestley, 2018-08-14 This work is a historical and philosophical study of the programming work carried out by John von Neumann in the period 1945-8 At the heart of the book is an examination of a manuscript featuring the earliest known surviving example of von Neumann's coding a routine written in 1945 to mesh two sequences of data and intended to be part of a larger program implementing the algorithm now known as mergesort The text of the manuscript itself along with a preliminary document describing the code he used to write this program are reproduced as appendices The program is approached in three chapters describing the historical background to von Neumann's work the significance of the sorting application itself and the development of the EDVAC the machine for which the program was written The subsequent chapters widen the focus again discussing the subsequent evolution of the program and the crucial topic of subroutines before concluding by situating von Neumann's work in a number of wider contexts The book also offers a unifying philosophical interpretation of von Neumann's approach to coding

Kastning,2013-11-11 Integer Programing is one of the most fascinating and difficult areas in the field of Mathematical Optimization Due to this fact notable research contributions to Integer Programming have been made in very different branches of mathematics and its applications Since these publications are scattered over many journals proceedings volumes monographs and working papers a comprehensive bibliography of all these sources is a helpful tool even for specialists in this field I initiated this compilation of literature in 1970 at the Institut für Konometrie und Operations Research University of Bonn Since then many collaborators have contributed to and worked on it Among them Dipl Math Claus Kastning has done the bulk of the work With great perseverance and diligence he has gathered all the material and checked it with the original sources The main aim was to incorporate rare and not easily accessible sources like Russian journals preprints or unpublished papers Without the invaluable and dedicated engagement of Claus Kastning the bibliography would never have reached this final version For this reason he must be considered its responsible editor As with any other collection this literature list has a subjective viewpoint and may be in some sense incomplete We have however tried to be as complete as possible The bibliography contains 4704 different publications by 6767 authors which were classified by 11839 descriptor entries
