A school consists of 740 students divided into 5 grade levels. The numbers of students in each grade are shown in the table below.

Grade	8	9	10	11	12
Number of students	120	125	119	195	181

The Principal of the school wishes to select a sample of 25 students. She wishes to ensure that, as closely as possible, the proportion of the students from each grade in the sample is the same as the proportions in the school.

- (a) Calculate the number of grade 12 students who should be in the sample. [3]

The Principal selects the students for the sample by asking those who took part in a previous survey if they would like to take part in another. She takes the first of those who reply positively, up to the maximum needed for the sample.

- (b) State which two of the sampling methods listed below best describe the method used. [2]

Stratified Quota Convenience Systematic Simple random

Uncertainty in Teacher Education Futures Sandy Schuck, Peter Aubusson, Kevin Burden, Sue Brindley, 2018-02-16

This book discusses the use of futures methodologies to examine and critique teacher education and investigate drivers of change in teacher education contexts providing readers with futures tools that they can use to explore curricula and pedagogies It explains futures methods including scenario development and backcasting and illustrates them with examples of research in science technology and mathematics education contexts By allowing the long term influence of current trends to be considered and providing an opportunity to reflect on the present and imagine the future scenarios provoke discussion on the directions that teacher education might take now The book offers insights into the possibilities that might exist for teacher education futures and into how scenario building and planning can be used to inform debates about the present Further it suggests ways in which readers can influence the future of teacher education through understanding the drivers of change

Emerging Strategies in Research—Going Beyond Disciplinary Boundaries Santosh

Dhar, Upinder Dhar, Nitu Katariya, 2023-04-17 Going beyond the disciplinary horizons is an emerging trend of research now a days It is becoming increasingly important for addressing society's most pressing needs Within the disciplinary framework the ability to solve problems through the generation of knowledge has traditionally been addressed from discipline specific perspective However it has become apparent that the research needed to address today s complex problems requires the expertise from multiple disciplines Trans disciplinary Interdisciplinary and Multidisciplinary contributions combined concepts and knowledge not only used by academicians and researchers but also other stakeholders in the civic society including representatives of the private sector public administrators and the public These contributions enable the cross fertilization of knowledge and experiences from diverse groups of people and contribute towards holistic vision of a subject as well as new explanatory theories Rather than being an end in itself this kind of research is a way of achieving innovative goals enriched understanding and a synergy of new methods International Teacher Education Cheryl J. Craig,Lily

Orland-Barak,2014-12-02 The book fills a gaping hole in the teacher education literature Nowhere is there a volume that globally surveys teacher education pedagogies and invites international scholars to describe the most productive ones in their home countries Advances in Mathematical Sciences Bahar Acu,Donatella Danielli,Marta Lewicka,Arati

Pati,Saraswathy RV,Miranda Teboh-Ewungkem,2020-07-16 This volume highlights the mathematical research presented at the 2019 Association for Women in Mathematics AWM Research Symposium held at Rice University April 6 7 2019 The symposium showcased research from women across the mathematical sciences working in academia government and industry as well as featured women across the career spectrum undergraduates graduate students postdocs and professionals The book is divided into eight parts opening with a plenary talk and followed by a combination of research paper contributions and survey papers in the different areas of mathematics represented at the symposium algebraic combinatorics and graph theory algebraic biology commutative algebra analysis probability and PDEs topology applied mathematics mathematics education Evidence-Based Practice in Sport and Exercise Brent L Arnold,Brian K

K. Shum,2015-10-30

This book not only examines what IB philosophy is it also explores the relationship between IB philosophy and Chinese language and culture and introduces a lot of useful and creative teaching pedagogies and methodologies Most importantly this book fills the gap of implementing IB philosophy and pedagogy into Chinese language teaching Going Nowhere Fast Sabina Lawreniuk,Laurie Parsons,2020 Using data and insights from over ten years of field research in Cambodia this book explores how inequality persists in a hypermobile world Psychological Criminology Richard Wortley,2023-11-15

Psychological Criminology explores what is it about individuals and their experiences that causes them to commit crime and or to become criminal Fully updated to include the latest theories and research this new edition provides comprehensive coverage of psychological theories of crime and criminality It arranges theories in temporal sequence from distal to proximal causes of crime and is organised under three key headings theories that focus on factors present at birth human nature heredity theories that focus on factors that influence the offender over the lifespan learning and development theories that focus on factors present at the crime scene The book emphasises the connections among the different approaches and demonstrates how taken together rather than as rival explanations they provide a more complete picture of crime and criminality Psychological Criminology highlights the contributions that psychological theory can make to the broader field of criminology It is essential reading for students academics researchers and practitioners in both criminology and forensic psychology

Farm households in Egypt: A typology for assessing vulnerability to climate change Nin-Pratt, Alejandro, ElDidi, Hagar, Breisinger, Clemens, 2018-09-06 Using governorate level national data and household survey data we build a typology of farm households in Egypt that allows us to describe how different farm households behave in response to policy and environmental changes affecting their resources welfare and opportunities in output and input markets One of the major contributions of this study is the building of a unique dataset that combines various data sources at different levels of aggregation providing the information needed to model the farm typology We used this dataset as the input of a multi step procedure that includes the use of principal components and cluster analyses to identify 14 household types To illustrate possible uses of the typology we look at the vulnerability of the different types of households to projected changes in temperature water availability and water demand from crops due to climate change and discuss which farmers production systems and regions will be most affected by climate shocks We assumed that increased temperatures by 2050 would result in increased water demand and reduced yields for most crops due to heat stress and harsher growing conditions We define three climate change scenarios that differ in the expected water flows of the Nile into the Aswan High Dam Results of simulations using a household model suggest that Egypt is likely to experience a significant reduction in output agricultural labor demand and cultivated area because of climate change although the severity of this outcome will depend on the magnitude of changes in the Nile s flow Most affected by these changes will be small and average households producing field crops Our results suggest that to mitigate the risks and possible future impacts of climate change the country will need to Move away from policies supporting production of cereals and water inefficient crops towards diversification of production into water efficient high value crops facilitate the access of skilled resource poor producers to capital and markets and create opportunities for off farm employment and income for smallholders that are using resources inefficiently
