Postwar History Education in Japan and the Germanys Julian Dierkes, 2010-12-14 How did East and West Germany and Japan reconstitute national identity after World War II Did all three experience parallel reactions to national trauma and reconstruction History education shaped how these nations reconceived their national identities Because the content of history education was controlled by different actors history education materials framed national identity in very different ways In Japan where the curriculum was controlled by bureaucrats bent on maintaining their purported neutrality materials focused on the empirical building blocks of history who where what at the expense of discussions of historical responsibility In East Germany where party cadres controlled the curriculum students were taught that World War II was a capitalist aberration In West Germany where teachers controlled the curriculum students were taught the lessons of shame and then regeneration after historians turned away from grand national narratives This book shows that constructions of national identity are not easily malleable on the basis of moral and political concerns only but that they are subject to institutional constraints and opportunities In an age when post conflict reconstruction and reconciliation has become a major focus of international policies the analysis offers important implications for the parallel revision of portrayals of national history and the institutional reconstruction of policy making regimes

Congress. House. Committee on Education, Moral and Political Discourses in Philosophy of Education Prakash Iyer, Indrani Bhattacharjee, 2021-09-27 This book focuses on moral and political education and critically engages with educational issues from a philosophical perspective It engages with questions of moral education as well as questions about citizenship education to address apprehensions on learning in a liberal democracy while parallelly invoking issues from within the curriculum the school environment and teacher student relationship With contributions from renowned philosophers and educationists this volume discusses themes like civic education and liberal democracy toleration and freedom Tagore's conception of the moral and political self key issues in moral education cosmopolitanism compassion care ethics and moral purpose of schooling to revisit and rethink some foundational questions related to education curriculum and pedagogy This volume will be essential reading for educationists and educators and will be important for scholars and researchers of philosophy of education education teacher education and school education The Israeli-Palestinian Conflict in History and Civics Textbooks of Both Nations Ruth Firer, Sāmī 'Abd al-Razzāq 'Adwān, 2004 Whose History? Grant Rodwell, 2013 Somebody once quipped that any work of Australian historical fiction is a burning fuse travelling over decades through Australian culture and society In some manner every newly published Australian historical novel is connected to what it has preceded Each work belongs to a proud history Through multiple examples Grant Rodwell encourages readers to see how a work of historical fiction has evolved Thus under various themes WHOSE HISTORY examines the traditions in Australian historical fiction and ponders how Australian historical novels can engage teachers and student teachers WHOSE HISTORY aims to illustrate how historical novels and their related genres may be used as an engaging teacher learning strategy for student teachers in pre service teacher education courses It does not argue all teaching of History curriculum in pre service units should be based on the use of historical novels as a stimulus nor does it argue for a particular percentage of the use of historical novels in such courses It simply seeks to argue the case for this particular approach leaving the extent of the use of historical novels used in History curriculum units to the professional expertise of the lecturers responsible for the units Historical Outlook, 1922 Multimodal Texts in Disciplinary Education Kristina Danielsson, Staffan Selander, 2021-06-30 This open access book provides an introduction to multimodality and the role of multimodal texts in today's education. Presenting a comprehensive framework for analysing and working with multimodal texts in disciplinary education, it serves as a tool for researchers and teachers alike. The second part of the book focuses on sample analyses of a variety of educational texts for different age groups and from different disciplines, including games and online resources. The authors also comment on the specific challenges of each text and how teachers can discuss such texts with their students to enhance both their understanding of the content and their multimodal literacy. The book is intended for researchers in fields like education and multimodal studies and for teacher educators regardless of school subject or age group. With the combined perspectives on text analysis and implications for education, the book addresses the needs of teachers who want to work with multimodal aspects of texts in education in informed ways but lack the right tools for such work.
