The background of the cover is a dark, abstract composition. It features several bundles of fiber optic cables, some of which are illuminated with a bright blue light, creating a sense of depth and movement. A prominent, glowing blue sine wave curves across the lower right portion of the image. In the lower left, there is a yellowish-green, semi-transparent shape that serves as a backdrop for the critical angle formula.

Science is unique among the disciplines since it is inherently hands on. However, the hands-on nature of science instruction also makes it uniquely challenging when teaching in virtual environments. How do we as science teachers deliver high quality experiences in an online environment that leads to age grade level appropriate science content knowledge and literacy but also collaborative experiences in the inquiry process and the nature of science? The expansion of online environments for education poses logistical and pedagogical challenges for early childhood and elementary science teachers and early learners. Despite digital media becoming more available and ubiquitous and increases in online spaces for teaching and learning, Killham et al 2014, Wong et al 2018, PreK-12 teachers consistently report feeling underprepared or overwhelmed by online learning environments. Molnar et al 2021, Seaman et al 2018. This is coupled with persistent challenges related to elementary teachers' lack of confidence and low science teaching self-efficacy. Brigido Borrachero Bermejo, Gunning, Duran, Duran 2004. Ideal for undergraduate teacher candidates, graduate students, teacher educators, classroom teachers, parents, and administrators, this book addresses why and how teachers use online environments to teach science content and work with elementary students through a research-based foundation.
